ALIENISTS IN KID M'COY SHOOTING

Prosecution Seeks to Show Alleged Woman Slayer Mentally Balanced

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 16.—The "Kid" McCoy-Mors case today struck a parallel with the Leopold-Loeb trial in Chicago.

"Kid" McCoy's fate rests with alienists.

District Attorney Asa Keyes sent three alienists to the city jail today to make a thorough examination of the former ring champion, as he put down the foundation for his fight against the insanity defense plea advanced by McCoy's lawyers.

At the same time defense alienists were sought by McCoy's attorneys and friends.

The three experts of the district attorney were prepared to submit McCoy to both physical and mental tests.

On the result of these tests it will be determined how best the state can attack McCoy's defense that he was mentally unbalanced last Tuesday night when his sweetheart, Teresa Mors, met death in a tiny apartment where the former ring champion and the woman lived as Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Shields.

Noted as Trickster

"Remember the story of how 'Kid' McCoy long ago told his ring opponent, 'Your shoe's unlaced' and how, when the other fellow fell for this trick, the 'Kid' slipped him the knockout punch?" asked District Attorney Keyes today.

"Remember that. That's McCoy. He had the reputation of a trickster, perhaps the greatest the ring has ever know through the years he was a fighter and now he's trying to trick us and make us think he's insane. He's crazy—like the well known fox.

"His every act in this case shows he is not insane, but in full possession of his faculties."

Declared 'Goofy'

While the district attorney relieved himself of this, R. D. Knickerbocker, chief counsel for McCoy, countered with the simple statement:

"McCoy is insane—goofy. We can prove it."

Out of a mess of tangled skeins of evidence, District Attorney Keyes began to whip into shape the case he will present to the county grand jury when he asks for an indictment against Norman Selby (Kid McCoy), for the murder of Mrs. Teresa Mors, wealthy antique dealer.

Undaunted by the open verdict of the coroner's jury, which merely recommended further investigation, failing to find whether Mrs. Mors died a suicide or a murderer's victim, Keyes today declared he already has sufficient evidence to present McCoy's case not only to the grand jury but to a court.

May Call Sister

It seemed certain today that McCoy's sister, Mrs. Jennie Thomas, whose declaration that McCoy had told her hours before Mrs. Mors' body was found that he "was afraid he had killed a woman," will be called in again

Major Martin Denies Charge About Flight

BELLINGHAM, Wash., Aug. 16.—Major Frederick T. Martin, whose plane crashed April 30, in Alaska while he was leading the American round-the-world flyers, today denied he could have cleared the elevation he struck had he been flying 150 feet higher, as charged by William Sullivan, foreman of a fish hatchery in Alaska, who is reported to have found the wrecked flagship.

Major Martin stated he was flying 1,000 feet above sea level and that the top of the mountain he struck was 1,500 feet above him. He added that Sullivan "may call the sloping ground where I crashed a foothill, but I consider it a mountain."

The former commander of the globe-circling tour has been here with his family for a month on a sixty-day leave of absence.

Ball Player Held on Embezzlement Charge

NEW YORK, Aug. 16—Charles F. Young, said to be a former third baseman of the Chicago White Sox, was arrested today and held for the police of Pasadena, Cal., where he is wanted for embezzlement. The California authorities telegraphed yesterday to apprehend him.

Young admitted he had recently arrived from the Pacific coast but said he knew nothing of the charge against him. He was taken before a police justice and remanded to jail until Monday, pending arrival of extradition papers.

Young is wanted in Pasadena on a complaint of a woman who says she commissioned the ex-ball player to sell her car. She claims she got neither her car nor money back.

Labor Leaders Won't Support La Follette

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16.—John J. Keegan, former organizer for the International Association of Machinists and now a member of the United States employes' compensation commission, today made public a letter to Samuel Gompers, declaring that six of the eleven members of the executive council of the American Federation of Labor which recently endorsed the La Follette-Wheeler presidential ticket at Atlantic City, would not vote for these men in the election.

Hoover Will Launch 1924-25 Radio Season

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 16.—The 1924-25 radio season will be ushered in tonight when Secretary of Commerce Herbert Hoover officially opens the Pacific Radio Exposition which begins a six-day session in the civic auditorium. More than 200,000 radio fans throughout the whole country are expected to listen in to the secretary's address which will be broadcasted direct from the exposition.

Persians Will Honor Murdered U. S. Consul

TEHERAN, Aug. 16.—After honors by the Persian government, the body of Robert Imbrie, American vice consul, who was killed by religious fanatics, will be sent to Bushier tomorrow. It will be shipped on the steamship Trenton on August 25.

Fierce Battle Rages In Moroccan Warfare

MADRID, Aug. 16.—Heavy fighting was reported from the Moroccan battle front today. General Serana has been put in command of the Spanish forces in the Lau sector where pressure from the tribesmen is severe.

WOMAN IS ACCUSED

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 16.—Following preliminary examination of her husband, Dr. Raymond Lloyd, chiropractor, charged with extortion, and held to answer to the superior court, Mrs. Jeanette Lloyd was under arrest today in the San Fernardino county jail on the same charge. The pair is alleged to have victimized Dr. A. D. Hubbell, veterinary.

ATTEMPT TO FIND HEAT OF MARS

Scientists Ready to Learn New Facts as Planet Approaches Closer

LOWELL OBSERVATORY, FLAGSTAFF, Ariz., Aug. 16.—A little group of American scientists headed by Dr. W. W. Coblenz, physicist, of Washington, D. C., became unusually excited here today.

Tonight as the planet Mars begins its final swing which will bring it closer to the earth than it has ever been before, great telescopes will be trained upon the desert's southwest sky.

Here at this observatory where observations have been conducted for thirty years and where the "canals" of Mars were first sighted, there is a feeling of intensity, for tonight or some time before August 23, when the planet gets closest to the world, new astronomical history may have been written.

Await Revelations

While Mars will still be more than 34,000,000 miles away, Dr. Coblenz told International News Service today he was confident something new about the planet will be revealed, as it pushed itself nearest in history to the earth.

Dr. Coblenz is particularly interested in Mars' heat, which he believes is increasing yearly, and his studies during the coming days will deal in part with measurements of the heat rays from the planet and an attempt to determine its mean temperature.

Planet Getting Warmer

The Washington physicist has already reached the conclusion that Mars is warmer than credited. He is working with an extremely delicate, minute instrument of his own development, which he hopes on August 20 or a few days later will give him knowledge which scientists have sought for years.

Observations completed within the next ten days are expected to give Dr. Coblenz knowledge to definitely announce that Mars' temperature is above zero and that the plant is getting warmer all the time.

ARCTIC ICE DELAYING AIRMEN

Flyers Wait for Floes to Drift From Course of Their Next Dash

LONDON, Aug. 16.—Unfavorable weather conditions today again delayed the departure of the American round-the-world flyers from Reykjavik, Iceland, according to a wireless dispatch this afternoon from Reykjavik. While the wind conditions and ocean currents are considered dangerous, the ice floes along the course of the next hop caused the flyers to postpone their flight until they had broken up and drifted off.

Flight From Iceland Is Again Postponed

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16.—Another postponement of the round-the-world flyers' hop from Reykjavik, Iceland, to the eastern coast of Greenland was indicated in a radio message received by the chief of air service today from Lieutenant Lowell Smith, flight commander, sent from the United States cruiser Milwaukee, stationed with the airmen in Iceland.

The message states that because of ice, wind and perverse ocean currents, Lieutenant Schultz, advance officer, who has discovered a new base seventeen miles from Angmagsalik, Greenland, was unable to reach the place today, to prepare the way for the coming flyers.

Harbor Ice Bound

Angmagsalik, the original harbor planned for a base, is reported to be again full of ice, after its being cleared early in the week by the little Danish steamer Gertrude Rask, which was ice bound in the harbor for ten days. The message states that improved conditions are indicated within a few days.

"We will leave here as soon as practicable," Smith concluded.

FLACK IS RELEASED

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 16.—Max Flack, outfielder, has been released under option to the Oakland Coast league club.

SAN BERNARDINO MOUNTAIN FIRE

Sugar Pine Flats Scene Of Big Blaze; Report Sanitarium Burned

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 16.—Every available man who could be rounded up by the sheriff at San Bernardino, near here, was rushed early today into the San Bernardino mountains to combat the serious conflagration raging in the Sugar Pine Flats region.

The fire, believed to be of incendiary origin, is reported to have destroyed the Rowell sanitarium.

Many Thousand Acres Are Swept by Flames

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 16.—Forestry officials announced today that the great Ernst fire in Stanislaus national forest has been controlled. A force of more than 450 men was on the fire line when the blaze was finally encircled after burning over 56,000 acres.

Of this enormous acreage, 35,000 acres was outside the confines of the national forest and 21,000 inside.

A report from Supervisor M. A. Benedict at noon today said it was hoped to control the Sweetwater blaze in Sierra national forest that has been menacing Yosemite national park this afternoon.

Two of three incendiary forest fires set within a period of half an hour in Tahoe national forest had been controlled today. The third, in Dog valley, was expected to be controlled tonight.

The Colfax fire on state lands, six miles from Colfax, was still blazing today and burning on Iowa hill.

Yosemite National Park Is Threatened by Flames

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 16.—A supreme effort was made today by fire fighters to encircle the great Mariposa county fire that threatens to leap into the confines of Yosemite National park. More than 500 men recruited from convict road camps, lumber mills, hydro-electric projects and national park rangers went into action against the Sweetwater fire which, after being checked in one direction, leaped the Merced river. Forestry service officials were

Coolidge Will Spend Vacation In Vermont

PLYMOUTH, Vermont, Aug. 16.—President Coolidge, seeking a rest on the first vacation he has had since entering the White House, began it today by getting up at 6 o'clock in the morning.

The chief executive chose Plymouth, the place of his birth and home of his father, because it is virtually isolated. The hamlet has neither telegraph office nor railroad station. A special telephone and telegraph wire has been run into the old Coolidge store in Plymouth.

The president brought with him for study two reports submitted by the tariff commission, relative to the sugar industry. He may reach a decision on a new sugar tariff before his return August 2.

Mrs. Coolidge, their son John, and C. Bascom Slemp, Mr. Coolidge's secretary, accompanied him.

Woolwine Starts on Trip to Home Land

PARIS, Aug. 16.—Thomas Lee Woolwine, former district attorney of Los Angeles county, California, departed for home today, still weak from the serious illness he has suffered during the past two months. Woolwine was accompanied by his wife and brother, Samuel Woolwine of Nashville, Tenn., when he left in a special car for Havre. The sick man was carried from his hotel to the railway station in an ambulance.

Two Railway Mergers Are Planned In Texas

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16.—The Panhandle and Santa Fe railroad applied to the Interstate Commerce Commission today for authority to acquire control of the Pecos and Northern Texas railroad by lease. At the same time the Gulf, Colorado and Santa Fe sought authority to gain control by lease of that part of the Pecos and Northern Texas running between Coleman and Sweetwater, Texas.

Find Body of Slain Italian Politician

ROME, Aug. 16.—The body of the Socialist deputy, Matteotti, whose kidnaping and disappearance recently threw Italy into political turmoil, was found this afternoon near Crofano, a few miles from Rome. It was naked and buried under fourten inches of soil. A long steel file had been plunged into his breast.

HELEN WILLS IS WINNER OF TITLE

California Girl Defeats Mrs. Molla Mallory In Two Straight Sets

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Aug. 16.—Never extended, Helen Wills, aged 18, the California school girl, scored an easy straight-set victory over Mrs. Molla Mallory, six times champion, this afternoon in defense of her title as national singles tennis champion. "Little Poker Face" won 6-1, 6-3.

Mrs. Mallory was an easy victim for the champion.

It was the third year they met in the final round, Mrs. Mallory winning in 1922 and Miss Wills in 1923.

The match got under way at 2:05 o'clock, with Miss Wills serving. She took the first point on Molla's net and quickly ran out a love victory.

Helen promptly broke through in the second, 4-2, on Molla's errors, but lost her service, 4-1, in the third. Molla lost the fourth 4-2. Miss Wills led three games to one.

Breaks Service

Miss Wills won the fifth with the loss of but one point. She broke Molla's service for the third time, 4-1, and needed one game for the set.

The final game went to deuce five times with both playing brilliantly. Helen finally won, 9-7, taking the set, 6-1.

Mrs. Mallory started service in the second set and Helen again broke through after deuce. She won her service, 4-1, and led 2 love.

Miss Wills broke Mrs. Mallory's service in the final game, Molla contributing a net for the match

POLITICAL CLUB FOR EAGLE ROCK

New Organization to Boost La Follette In Race For Presidency

EAGLE ROCK, Aug. 16.—This city now has a new political organization. It is the La Follette for President club, organized when about eighty citizens gathered at the Eagle Rock school, elected officers and prepared plans for a survey of the community with the intention of increasing the membership to at least 300. Lew Head of Pasadena was the principal speaker.

Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Crain of Mount Helena avenue are north on a visit, which will include friends at Santa Barbara, Santa Cruz and San Francisco.

Dr. Harry B. Crawford and family were home over Sunday from Camp Baldy, where they are spending the summer. Mrs. Crawford is much improved in health.

Visits Balboa

Miss Elaine Geis of Shearin avenue has gone to Balboa, the guest of her friend Shirley Murdock. The Murdocks have a cottage at Balboa and are spending much time there.

Mrs. M. Gibson of Vincent avenue has returned from a trip through the High Sierras, the National park and other places.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Pargelles of Ridgeview avenue are rejoicing over the birth of their first grandchild, a boy born to Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Pargelles of Pasadena.

Misses Natalie and Lois Hersom of Eagle Rock boulevard have as house guests, their cousins, Lucille and Charlotte Ding.

URGES STUDY OF RULES OF ORDER

Parliamentary Law Club In Session Hear Tribute By Club Leader

Tribute to the knowledge and use of parliamentary law by Mrs. Thomas G. Winter, junior past president of the General Federation of Women's clubs, was paid yesterday morning at the meeting of the Women's Parliamentary Law club at the Harvard High school by Mrs. H. E. Bartlett, parliamentarian of the Tuesday Afternoon club. Mrs. Bartlett's mention of Mrs. Winter was most timely because of the recent biennial convention in Los Angeles, where Glendale and other California women had an opportunity to enjoy meetings under Mrs. Winter's capable direction.

Mrs. Bartlett quoted Mrs. Winter in a talk on organization, as follows:

"How shall we organize? In brief, the answer is: Choose the form of organization that is just as simple as possible; do not tie yourself up with red tape. The law or form is not a thing in itself. It is just a means of procuring order and decency. And parliamentary law is not a great bugaboo, threatening and terrifying us, but just our saving, trying to express our own will and desire which cannot be done unless we have agreed on orderly methods of such expression. We shall want to use just as little parliamentary law as is consistent with producing that effect. Clubs are fighting groups as legislatures sometimes are, where multitudes of safeguards have to be provided. They are co-operating groups, and all parliamentary procedure means to them a medium for expressing that co-operation.

Law of Promptness

"There is one law to which both presiding officers and members should be loyal, and that is the law of promptness. Begin on time; keep each speaker to the allotted time; adjourn on time. Don't say it can't be done. It is done.

"We have to be thinking seriously of our officers, not to ask only whether they are lovable women and dress the part, but whether they are wise and sane and reliable; whether they are fair-minded; whether they either know or are willing to subject themselves to the training that makes a good president, a good secretary, a good treasurer. We have also to be thinking seriously of the composition of committees; the two kinds, the one whose purpose is to investigate and report, and the other which is charged to carry out a definite piece of work.

"But we have not only officers and committees. We have our membership, and it needs training on its side in loyalty and understanding in order that it may back instead of backbite the women that it has selected for leadership. To train ourselves to loyalty here in our club is to deepen in ourselves one of the finest and most constructive of civic virtues."

Another interesting feature of the club meeting was a talk by Mrs. Ella Richardson of 317 North Brand boulevard, who told of meeting General Henry M. Roberts, noted parliamentarian, at the biennial of the General Federation of Women's clubs in 1916 in New York. She told of lunching with General Roberts and of having him present her with an autographed copy of his book on parliamentary proceedings. Throughout her talk Mrs. Richardson stressed the importance of parliamentary law in all organizations.

Miss Grace Jasper of Louisberg, West Virginia, a student at Columbia University, who is a guest in Glendale, was also a guest of the club.

At the meeting the first Friday morning in September the women will again take up the subject of "Reconsider."

Guardsmen Back From Annual Encampment

Hupp to Build Eight Cylinder Car

The Hupmobile will enter the higher-priced car market with a new eight-cylinder car, catering to a different class of buyers than the present type of Hupmobile which will be continued.

You can obtain further information about this new "eight" by calling at the H. W. Swanson show rooms, at 111 W. Harvard street, Glendale.

According to H. V. White, local manager here, he will be able to use a number of good used Hupmobiles.

A cordial invitation is extended to Hupmobile owners, as well as drivers of other makes of cars, to drive by and inspect the new Hupmobile with its many new features.

Come in and get acquainted. We may make a trade. Remember the place—111 West Harvard St.—Advertisement.

Aquatic Stars Will Frolic at Carnival

TUJUNGA, Aug. 16.—A water carnival featuring the star divers and swimmers of the Hollywood Athletic club, under the direction of Clyde Swendson, swimming instructor, will be staged Sunday, August 31, as part of the fourth annual Moon Festival of the Tujungans which opens August 29 for a four day run at the Garden of the Moon park. Swendson will present his best teams in fancy diving and swimming stunts. The same teams will appear who have appeared at Southern California plunges in competition with the best, where they have acquitted themselves with credit. Swendson claims to have the best teams in the south for exhibition work.

Preparations are being made for entertaining the biggest crowds of any of the three previous festivals. A carnival company will bring tent shows and all the regular carnival attractions to a Midway that will be constructed on the grounds of the Garden of the Moon park. Even the old reliable merry-go-round will be part of the festival attractions.

Will Present Colors To Boy Scout Troop

MONTROSE, Aug. 16.—August 29 has been set as the date for the presentation of colors and standards to Montrose Troop 1, Boy Scouts of America. The presentation will take place at the next meeting of Post 288, American Legion, on that date. Badges will also be presented to all the Scouts who have passed their tests and the charter will also be presented if it arrives in time. The Boy Scouts will be guests of Post 288 on that night.

SUNLAND NOTES

SUNLAND, Aug. 16.—Rev. W. E. Smith, pastor of Sunland Baptist church, is receiving congratulations on attaining his fifty-second birthday. Many expressions of good wishes have been received from friends.

Report of Death Is Greatly Magnified

TUJUNGA, Aug. 16.—History repeats itself, over and over again.

The latest is a local repetition of Mark Twain's famous "exaggerated report of death."

A few days ago Dr. Mabel M. Adams, Marshall street, Tujunga, was reported in an automobile accident at Castiac. Later reports magnified the accident to such an extent that friends despaired of ever again seeing Dr. Adams alive.

Yesterday at a meeting of the Tujunga Valley Realty board her application for membership was read and attention was called to the fact that Dr. Adams had been killed in an auto wreck, but about that time she walked into the meeting and denied that she had died and requested that she be allowed to join the rest of the very live wires who sell real estate in the hills.

DECORATE AUTOS FOR BIG PARADE

Many Cities to Participate In Opening Festivals For Exposition

BURBANK, Aug. 16.—Automobilists of San Fernando valley can go just as far as they like in decorating their cars for the big parade that is to open the San Fernando Valley industrial exposition at Burbank September 9, according to officials. The winner of the first prize will receive $50. The second award will be $25. There are no rigid rules. The only requirement is that the entrant shall register the competing car with his local Chamber of Commerce on or before September 1.

This parade is to mark the opening of the fall festival, preceding the crowning of the queen, which will be the engaging attraction for the afternoon program of events scheduled for the initial day. The one who is by popular vote declared queen, will be presented with a $100 diamond ring and will rule over the destinies of the educational fair during its run of five days and nights.

Differing from the ordinary carnival with its ballyhoo features and gambling devices, this educational fair will be of a high class, with no other purpose than to promcte the interests of valley manufacturing industries through the establishing of San Fernando valley made products in the minds of the purchasing public. It is expected that several hundred decorated cars will paticipate in the parade, which will visit Hollywood, Glendale, Burbank and a number of the cities of the valley. Music for the parade as well as for the exposition itself will be furnished by the Burbank municipal band.

Fire Protection

The new Seagrave fire engine purchased some time ago by the city, is expected to arrive this week. The engine has a capacity of 350 gallons a minute and will increase the fire protection for the city practically 100 per cent. The engine was purchased for use principally in the industrial section of the city and the valley section of the city. The engine will be housed for the time being in one of the buildings at the city pumping station at the corner of Magnolia boulevard and Main street, where it will be convenient for service in the entire southern part of the city.

SURVEY REVEALS BOY STATISTICS

Small Number of 3700 Boys In Glendale Reached By Organizations

Glendale claims 3700 boys from 10 to 20 years of age, is the interesting declaration made in a report of a recent survey made by the local Y. M. C. A. and service clubs. Of this number the report states that a very small per cent are being reached by any organization interested specially in boys. The Boy Scouts, Y. M. C. A. and DeMolay have approximately 700 boys enrolled.

A careful survey of the churches shows that approximately 800 boys are attending Sunday school and half of that number are members of churches.

Few Employed Here

Reporting on amusements the committee expresses the finding that there are very few either constructive or destructive agencies appealing to the moral welfare located within the limits of Glendale. The same conclusion holds true for the employment situation, an investigation proving that a very small group of working boys are employed within the Glendale limits.

Supplementing the general report are some items taken from the annual report of the Los Angeles county probation department for the year ending December 31, 1923. It shows that during that time the total number of cases under the juvenile court were: boys, 1990, and girls, 950. Causes for delinquency are given as spare time, new boys coming into community, amusements, dancing, "booze" and smoking.

Polo, Ill, Residents To Gather at Picnic

California residents or visitors who formerly lived in Polo, Ill., or vicinity are to meet tomorrow, Sunday, August 17, for their semi-annual picnic lunch in Lincoln park, Los Angeles. The meeting place will be south of the conservatory on Valley boulevard at 1 o'clock.

Announcement is made that in case of rain the reunion will be held the following Sunday. Plans are for making the gathering the biggest reunion ever held.

CHARLES TALBOT CONTEST LEADER

Votes for Popular Babies Pouring Into Pendroy's As Close Nears

The count of the votes cast in Pendroy's Baby Contest, up till midnight last night, shows that Charles Talbot holds the lead with 207,522 votes. The other contestants rank as follows:

Ruth Evelyn Frazier.....159,316
Teddy Menk, Jr.....104,790
Henry Engelke 99,360
Edward Edlefsen 81,914
Viola Mae Bowers 52,786
Douglas Henry Person..... 30,312
Patricia Gordon 16,714

Interest Growing

The interest in the contest is growing keener daily, and as August 20, the date set for the closing of the voting, draws nearer, the parents and friends of the little contestants are making every ballot count for their favorites.

All purchases made in Pendroy's store today, it is stated, will carry double votes in the contest.

REVIVAL SERVICE ATTRACTS CROWD

Evangelist to Preach Three Sermons Sunday at Nazarene Church

Rev. O. B. Ong, evangelist, who is conducting a series of evangelistic services at the First Church of the Nazarene, located on South Glendale avenue, is attracting very large audiences. The church was filled to its capacity last night.

Rev. Ong, who is a forceful speaker, preached a sermon last night taken from Luke 3:14, a continuation of the sermon delivered the previous night.

A feature of the musical program last night was a tenor solo, "Amazing Grace," sung by Warner Crumpler.

Three Services

On Sunday three services will be conducted, beginning at 10:30 o'clock. The afternoon service will convene at 3 o'clock and the evening service at 7 o'clock. Those planning to attend all three services are asked to bring their lunch and spend the day.

There will be no services tonight, in order to give the evangelist and his workers a night of complete rest.

Reports Tools Stolen From Unfinished House

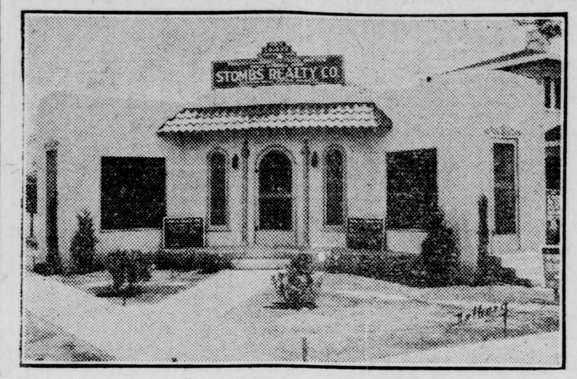
Firm Has Handsome Home

STOMBS REALTY COMPANY, that started business this week in its new quarters at the corner of Lexington drive and North Central avenue, has erected a striking suite of offices in which to transact its business. Shrubs and a lawn add to the beauty of the corner where the firm is located.



The new offices of the Stombs Realty company, that have just been opened at the corner of Central avenue and Lexington drive, are housed in what is claimed to be the most striking and artistic home of any Glendale realty firm, a handsome stucco building erected at a cost of over $3000 and finished throughout its three rooms with an art motif that sets it apart from the general run of business quarters.

The members of the firm, George M. Stombs and Ernest C. Globen-sky, state that business has started off with a rush that is already taxing the capacity of the firm, and the plans that had been made to employ four salesmen will have to be materially hastened, they say, to keep pace with the volume of the work that is coming in. They will handle a general real estate business, with a special department devoted to rentals.

Mr. Stombs came here from St Paul, Minn., and has been connected with the firm of Alexander & Son, 202 North Central avenue for the past two and one-half years, where he was known to a wide circle of acquaintances as "George." Mr. Globen-sky spent the summer of last year in Glendale, returning to his home in Toledo, Ohio, to wind up his affairs there and to come back and engage in the real estate business in Glendale.

Shrubs and Lawn

The firm's offices were built by Dahlman & Son, Glendale contractors, and form a striking addition to the structures in the neighborhood. The shrubs and grass that have been planted in front of the building will, when grown, materially enhance the appearance of the corner on which it stands.

One feature that the firm stresses on its signboards is "The Exhaust Pipe," with snappy flashes of philosophy that are changed frequently, and that carry a message of humor and sound advice. This week, being Safety Week, the warnings deal directly with advice to motorists, one being that "It is better to study the motor law than have a cop explain it."

Heads Firm

GEORGE M. STOMBS' experiments in the real estate business in Glendale leads him to form his own organization.

Busy Already

E. C. GLOBEN-SKY, of the STOMBS REALTY CO., says that business for the new firm has started off with a rush.

QUARTETTE WILL RENDER PROGRAM

Special Music Planned as Tribute to Pastor on Eve of Vacation

In recognition of the pastor's Rev. W. E. Edmonds, last Sunday in his pulpit, prior to leaving on a four weeks' vacation, the Harmony male quartette, well known musical organization of Los Angeles, composed of Edmard Hamm, first tenor; Henry Foth, second tenor; John Richert, baritone, and Herbert Richert, bass, together with Mrs. Mina Wenzel, lyric soprano soloist of the church, have arranged an unusually attractive musical program for tomorrow's services, both morning and evening. The detailed program follows:

Male Quartette, "O, Holy Father" .....Parks
Postlude, "Offertoire in G"....Grey

Rev. Edmonds' morning sermon theme will be "The Priestly Benediction." In the evening he will preach on "Modern Vipers."

Church Members Must Mobilize, Says Pastor

"Mobilization Day" will be observed tomorrow at the Central Avenue Methodist church, and, according to the pastor, Rev. Leo C. Kline, "At 11 o'clock all members of the church are requested to appear at the place of worship. This means that those A. W. O. L., on furlough, in the hospital, hanging around the commissary, or neglecting duty, are expected to appear and give an account of themselves."

He adds "Let it also be understood that this is mobilization for peace and to push the work of the church in this community."

There will be several special features. A. P. Hagen and C. H. Muhleman will give short addresses and special music will be directed by Dr. Joseph Marple.

EXAMINATION OF DRIVERS SOUGHT

Tests for Autoists Urged To Safeguard Lives In California

Believing that motor vehicles may be made safer for pedestrian and driver alike by prohibiting incompetent persons from handling cars, the Automobile Club of Southern California is investigating systems of examinations for drivers in other states, with the view of determining the best method of reducing casualties.

In one eastern state the fatal automobile accidents in 1924 were less than they were in 1919, in spite of the enormous increase in the number of vehicles in use during that period. It was found that from 20 to 30 per cent of those applying for the privilege of operating a motor vehicle on the highways were unable to demonstrate their fitness to be allowed this privilege. This withholding of licenses to drive from incompetents is held as one of the chief causes for the marked reduction in this eastern state in deaths attributable to automobile crashes.

License Anybody

The situation in California today, it is pointed out, is that any person, irrespective of mental and physical qualifications may obtain a license to operate a car. As far as the law is concerned, the applicant may be an inmate of a home for the feeble-minded, but, if he can fill in the little card furnished by the motor vehicle department, on which the color of the hair, eyes, and a few inconsequential details are listed, a license is granted.

It has been demonstrated that the chief cause of motor vehicle fatalities throughout the United States is incompetent handling of cars, so that it would appear that, if incompetent drivers can be weeded out, an appreciable reduction in the number of motor vehicle accidents will result.

Ignorant Drivers

As a further argument for the examination of motorists, it is shown that there are many foreigners and illiterates, unable to read or understand English. This makes it impossible for them to interpret the warning signs which have been so generously distributed by the Automobile Club of Southern California to call attention to dangerous spots on the highways, or for them to read even the most simple provisions of the state law covering the operation of the motor vehicle on the highway. This condition alone is a prolific cause of many violations of the traffic regulations.

Other organizations are expected to join the automobile club in finding ways and means of remedying the costly situation created by incompetent drivers.

Glendale Appeals to Philadelphia Buyer

After making an exhaustive inspection of many cities in Southern California, Miss Catherine K. Loper of Philadelphia has settled in Glendale and has bought the Bungalow grocery at the corner of Lexington drive and Pacific avenue and will engage in business here. Associated with Miss Loper as manager is G. Hagedorn, also of Philadelphia.

Miss Loper visited Glendale for the first time in 1916 and since then she has acquired two pieces of property that have already shown an advance in value.

In her new store that Miss Loper will formally open today she will carry a large and varied stock of the best lines and she will also institute a delivery service for her patrons.

All her real estate transactions here have been carried out through the Glendale Realty company, 131½ South Brand boulevard.

Police Chief Fraser Going on Vacation

Chief of Police John D. Fraser will leave Glendale tomorrow, accompanied by Mrs. Fraser, for a two-weeks' vacation. During the absence of Chief Fraser, Lieut. William J. Royle will be in charge of the office, according to the orders issued today by Chief Fraser.

Chief Fraser said today that he had not decided where he and his wife would spend the two weeks, but they were going some place where they could enjoy a rest. It was learned today that during the last two and a half years Chief Fraser has been absent from the office only five days.

Choice of President Pleases Relief Corps

Glendale women of the Women's Relief Corps, which is a unit of the department including Nevada and California, are greatly gratified over the election of Mrs. Grace B. Willard of Los Angeles to the national presidency, states Mrs. Priscilla Houdyshel of 308 North Orange street. Mrs. Willard was elected at the national encampment closing today in Boston, Massachusetts. Her election is the second honor that has come to the Los Angeles vicinity, for Martha Packard of Los Angeles is department president of California and Nevada.

WOMEN ATHLETES PLAN ACTIVITIES

Formally Organize Club at Meeting; Charter Will Hold Fifty Names

Formal organization of the Glendale Women's Athletic club was begun yesterday at an outdoor meeting in Patterson avenue park, where fourteen women met, elected officers and made tentative plans for the activities of the organization.

Mrs. J. H. Toal was chosen president. Other officers are: Mrs. E. S. Dodds, vice-president; Mrs. C. M. Conkling, secretary; Mrs. L. L. Craven, treasurer.

Unanimous action was taken to hold the charter membership open for fifty women. After that number has been enrolled membership will be by application only.

Strong Support

The organization of the club has met with hearty support and endorsement from prominent clubwomen of Glendale and there is such a demand for an organization of the kind that it is predicted that the charter membership list will be filled shortly, and will be followed by countless applications for membership.

Instructors for golf and swimming have already been secured, and Mrs. Glen Vail, a graduate of Sargent's School of Physical Education in Cambridge, Mass., who is a member of the club, is to give gymnasium instruction until the opening of the night school. With the opening of night school, the club members will enroll in the gymnasium classes.

In addition to the routine work play days are to be special features of the club program.

Meeting at Park

Another meeting will be held Friday, August 22, in Patterson avenue park, and all women interested in the club are invited to attend and bring picnic lunches. Those interested are to call Mrs. J. H. Toal at Glendale 2128M, Mrs. George R. Postle at Glendale 805-J or Mrs. Paul E. Webb at Glendale 3959.

Present yesterday were Mesdames V. T. Helseth, George R. Postle, E. S. Dodds, C. M. Conkling, George T. Smith, F. W. Stearn, L. L. Craven, Paul E. Webb, W. R. Grogan, H. Lepper, Osbourne, J. H. Toal, Misses Florence Scott and Claire Payne.

Contractor Claims Influx Of Newcomers Causes Cheap Competition

Editor, The Evening News:—Please allow this letter to be printed in your paper.

During the war, when prices and wages were high, the working class prospered. In Glendale in 1920, '21, '22 and '23, house building materials and wages were high and the working class prospered also. People bought homes, lots, etc. Competition was keen, but prices and estimating at a level where the contractor and sub-contractor could make a fair profit and pay the journeymen topnotch wages. The influx of people to Glendale, by starting cheap competition has come to a stage where the contractor and sub-contractor cannot pay the top-notch wage.

Plastering contractors are now figuring 38 to 45 cents per yard, lathing contractors $4.50 to $6 per thousand, inside, as against the above stated years, 60 to 75 cents per yard and $7 to $9 per thousand. Bricklaying contractors, cesspool excavators, roofing, plumbing and electrical outfits figuring low in proportion.

Raps Fly-By-ights

Anybody who so pleases has the privilege to contract in Glendale. But builders and owners should see to it that the contractor or sub-contractor who gets his job should be a property owner and not a fly-by-night, who skips out and leaves his material bills behind. Or one who lives in the auto camps, and pays cheap rent. Auto camps were intended as a courtesy to tourists and future residents. They should be allowed only two weeks to live in the auto camp and then notified to either rent a house or buy a home and pay taxes as other property owners do, thereby being of use to the community. This is written in the spirit of Greater Glendale, as cheap competition never has benefited any community. Would like to hear, in your paper, from other citizens. Remember, Mr. Architect. Mr. Builder and Mr. Owner, know your man.

Intermediate C. E. to Hold Sunday Meeting

The Intermediate Christian Endeavor society of the Glendale Presbyterian church is to have a special meeting Sunday evening, held at 5:30 o'clock on Cypress hill, Oakridge. Howard L. Brown, superintendent of C. E. work, will lead the meeting, which is to be a replica of the "Victory Circle" at the Mt. Hermon summer conference. Harold Cross, state C. E. worker, will also be present.

A business meeting of the society was held last night at the home of Mary Stanley at the corner of Maryland avenue and Windsor road, with thirty in attendance.

Unique entertainment was offered by the reading by Sarah Yoder of the "I. C. E. Companion," edited by John L. Simpson.

DEMOCRACIES IN THE MAKING

The tenth anniversary of the beginning of the world war has served to renew the discussion of the responsibility for the war, the results of the war and who won it. These are questions that will never be answered satisfactorily to all the countries who participated in the titanic struggle. Issues were so complicated and involved that no clear-cut statement can be made in explanation of the war and its outcome. However, documents are available now that bring to light some facts that were hidden at the time of the war; also we are able to think a little more clearly and sanely now than we did then.

We know that the United States army turned the tide of war in favor of the allies, and it is understood that Germany concedes this, too, though the allies themselves are not so eager to give us credit. But we are not so certain whether our participation in the war was justified.

To those who feel that the war was all waste, that the millions of men who died gave their lives in vain, the Christian Science Monitor makes these encouraging statements in an editorial:

"Before the war the whole of Europe was overshadowed by three immense and militarist autocracies. Democracy had a precarious foothold only in the West. What would have happened if Germany had won the war? It certainly would not have meant freedom in Russia. It certainly would not have meant freedom for the nationalities now governing themselves. It probably would have meant the strengthening and consolidation of a vast militarist empire in the center of Europe, the enemy of that democracy which would have been the only menace which it had to fear.

"The war was primarily fought by the youth of the democratic nations of the West in order that freedom might have a new birth in the world and that they did not make their effort in vain is seen in the fact that all the nations of Europe up to the borders of Russia are free and democratic today.

"It is right that all elements of dispute or inaccuracy about the diplomacy of 1914 should be cleared up, and that excessive or unjust judgments against Germany should be revised. But there is no possibility of overthrowing the fundamental verdict of the Western World that the war was a war for human freedom and that Prussianized Germany was the strongest protagonist on the other side. The real course is not to argue about the past, but to combine to make secure the democratic gains of the war and make sure that no such catastrophe shall ever overtake mankind again."

Looking at the question superficially it would seem that Europe is in a worse state today than before the war. The German people themselves are not as happy and prosperous as they were under autocracy. But it must be remembered that our own democracy and that of Europe were not evolved and perfected in a day. They were born through years of blood and strife. Democracies in Europe are just in the making. The first step was the overthrow of kings accomplished in the great war.

SUCCESS AND FAILURE

If there is a pitiful spectacle in the world it is the misfit, the man who is not living the way he wants to live, the one who, perhaps, does not know just what he wants, the one who is a failure because he is in the wrong job.

There is no happiness in life like that of doing the work one loves to do and one's earning capacity has very little bearing on the matter. There is no wretchedness so great as that of the man who is dubbed a failure because he has not found his proper niche in life. Some know what they want to do but are tied by circumstances to work that becomes drudgery because it is not their work, not the task they were born to do. Others are dissatisfied and yet do not know what they need to restore them to happiness.

The young people of today are finding it easier to get into the proper berth since vocational guidance has become such a science. The United States government recognized the value of psychological tests in classifying men during the war, and colleges and schools have been experimenting along the same line for some years. Every boy and girl, every man and woman, is a potential success and any method or science that helps the individual to happiness and satisfaction in life is a valuable contribution to humanity.

LET RESULTS SPEAK

"Listen to yourself as you brag and you will admit you are a bore," says a writer in a weekly magazine, and he goes on to state that the fellow who inspires confidence is the one who lets his work and results talk for him. Frank Chance of baseball fame says the boaster is usually covering his own lack of confidence by bragging, as a boy whistles when he passes a graveyard at night.

The confirmed boaster has something to fear. He keeps talking about his excellent traits so that you will not notice his weak points. He tells you how greatly superior he is to others so you will not take the time and trouble to make the comparison for yourself. The braggart has not a very high opinion of your intelligence. He does not give you the credit of being able to judge and come to conclusions for yourself.

One way to stop the mouth of the boaster is to come back at him with the same kind of palaver that he has been spreading. He will soon back down, utterly bored and discomfited. Only his own wonderful prowess is of interest to him. But there are few who wish to put themselves in the same class with this blatant ass, and so the world suffers in silence.

People who possess acumen and self-confidence let their work and their acts speak for them.

LA FOLLETTE A SOCIALIST

"La Follette is a Socialist in everything but name, and has been so for twenty years," says Victor Berger, Socialist member of Congress from Milwaukee, in an appeal to Socialists for support of La Follette for president. "He hasn't voted the Republican ticket since 1904. There is no reason why he cannot be our candidate."

It is presumed that Berger knows what he is talking about, and if so this is important information for Republican voters.

And another form of extravagance is wasting a million dollar's worth of mother love on a $4 pup.

After all, beauty is only rouge deep.

IT WOULD BE INTERESTING TO KNOW JUST WHAT PROGRESS WE COULD MAKE IF THE ANCHOR WEREN'T DRAGGING

The One Exception

By DR. FRANK CRANE

It is a curious thing, and one of the arguments for immortality that, while everything else that lives has its period of decay, there is no such period for the human mind and soul.

To the end of life the mind continues to expand and to learn, unless there be some interfering disease.

Everything else that lives has its period of growth, maturity and decay.

The insect of the summer air lives out its whole process during its brief day.

The elephant and the turtle may live for centuries, but they have their cycles just the same, and eventually pass away.

No matter how strong and virile a tree may be, in the end it will rot.

Mountains are affected by the detrition of time. Even continents rise and fall.

The fabulous continent of Atlantis is supposed to have disappeared into the waters of the Atlantic ocean and scientists are none too sure of the stability of the Hawaiian group in the Pacific.

All that lives must pass and all things have their periods of life.

To this general rule there seems to be one exception. It is the soul of man. Whether death affects it or not we cannot say. It is the stubborn belief of humanity that it continues after death. But it is only a belief, which is not knowledge. Every attempt to substantiate it with accurate information has failed, but the belief remains.

Man continues to be the one exception in the universe. There is something radically different between intelligent life and mere consciousness.

As far as we have been able to ascertain, no other form of animal life has intelligence in its full sense of the word except mankind.

This intelligence not only gives him dominion over all living things, but gives him that highest element which he has, the hope of immortality.

So strongly is this hope entrenched in the human race that its greatest Teacher took it for granted. He did not attempt to prove it, but merely said, "If it were not so I would have told you."

More than upon any one thing is this belief in immortality based upon the fact that there is no decay of the human spirit, but that the mind continues vigorous even until its last days.

Horoscope

Venus in benefic aspect dominates this day, according to astrology, but Saturn, Mercury and Uranus are all adverse.

Under this planetary government women may be much inclined to seek recognition in public affairs and there is an encouraging sign for them.

This should be a lucky day for lovemaking and engagements made at this time probably will be fortunate.

It is a happy wedding day in which those who plight troth may expect prosperity. They have many little quarrels that make the reconciliations memorable.

Again theatres become subject to a direction of the stars which promises the greatest activity in the world of the drama.

There will be a great access of interest in the spoken drama and pictures are to become more elaborate than ever before, the seers prophesy.

This is read as a threatening rule for those who sign contracts or leases. It is not an auspicious time to form new partnerships.

Uranus is in a place supposed to cause confusion of thought and illogical reasoning. The political outlook continues most blurred where it should appear most clear.

It is not a favorable day for starting on long journeys and aviators should be especially cautious.

While thrift has been preached by astrologers, they are definite to differentiate between wise economy and parsimony. They predict a period of economies that hurt rather than help individuals since corporations will practice them.

Those who speculate are warned to beware of conditions on the twenty-third of this month and later.

Life and limb are supposed to be in unusual danger at this time when many accidents may be expected.

Persons whose birth date it is should be conservative in all their business policies during the coming year. The young will court and marry.

Children born on this day may be inclined to place too small a value on money. These subjects of Leo are usually critical and difficult to please, but talented and lovable.

Today's Poem

THE CAPTAIN'S DAUGHTER

We were crowded in the cabin,
Not a soul would dare to sleep,
It was midnight on the waters,
And a storm was on the deep.

'Tis a fearful thing in winter
To be shattered by the blast,
And to hear the rattling trumpet
Thunder, "Cut away the mast!"

So we shuddered there in silence,
For the stoutest held his breath,
While the hungry sea was roaring
And the breakers talked with death.

As thus we sat in darkness,
Each one busy with his prayers,
"We are lost!" the captain shouted,
As he staggered down the stairs.

But his little daughter whispered,
As she took his icy hand,
"Isn't God upon the ocean,
Just the same as on the land?"

Then we kissed the little maiden,
And we spake in better cheer,
And we anchored safe in harbor
When the morn was shining clear.

Who's Who

It was recently announced by the British Admiralty that Admiral Sir Charles Edward Madden had been placed in command of the British Grand Fleet.

His rise to first in command has been steady since 1910 when he became Fourth Sea Lord of the Admiralty. In 1911 he was made Rear-Admiral in the Home Fleet. In the early years of the war he was elevated to Vice-Admiral and served in the battle of Jutland Bank. In 1917 he was again promoted and became 2nd in command of the Grand Fleet.

Admiral Madden has been frequently decorated. Among his many medals are the French Croix de Guerre with the Palm, Grand Officer of Leopold (Belgium), Japanese Order of Rising Sun, Italian Order of Savoy and Russian Order of St. Anne. He is also a Grand Officer of the Legion of Honour.

GREAT EPIDEMIC

After having been laid up for a very long time the mountaineer recovered sufficiently to be able to ride to town in his son-in-law's flivver.

"Well, how did you like it, Uncle Tobe?" asked a neighbor, after they returned home.

An old actor tells this one:

"We were playing to practically empty houses the whole time, and one night there were just a few people dotted about the theatre.

"For a few minutes in one scene in 'Dear Old Charlie,' I have the stage completely to myself, and Holman has to come on, and in the most lugubrious and solemn voice ask me: 'Are you alone?'

"On this occasion, I very nearly upset his gravity, for I looked all round the house and then replied: 'Almost.'"

The Ravings Of a Grouch

If there is one thing more than another that parents of today will have to answer for it is neglecting to teach their children to be reliable and self-reliant; failure to show them the importance of doing thoroughly and well whatever work they attempt; and remissness in impressing upon them the value of work as a builder of character.

A good many boys, and girls as well, are willing to earn money but they have never been taught that they must give something in return for the wages they receive. They are not looking for work but for "soft snaps."

A couple of high school boys, large for their age, who had made splendid records as athletes in school, secured jobs for the summer as carpenters' helpers at $4 a day, which I consider good pay for inexperienced help. They felt badly used when their employer refused them frequent half-days off to go swimming or for any trivial purpose that presented itself and when he discharged them because of their lack of interest and their marked inattention to their duties they both agreed that they were glad, for the work was too hard anyway.

This is but an example of the way some young people regard a job. They seem to feel they are conferring a favor by accepting a salary.

I do not like to see children old before their time but boys and girls of high school age are old enough to take some responsibilities, it is time then that they are taught to be dependable and trustworthy if they are ever going to learn. Of course they can learn these things at home just as well as in some kind of employment.

In my youth, in my little corner of the world, it was the custom for parents to apprentice their sons for a certain term of years to learn a trade. The meagre pay of those apprentice boys would not keep the modern youth in cigarets. The hours were from dawn until dark, there were scarcely any diversions, and the boy's employer was his master. I would not see such conditions prevail today if I could, although I think a boy who learns a trade is not greatly to be pitied. But it seems to me that we have gone a little too far toward the other extreme.

Thrift, industry and dependability are as necessary today as they ever were and the boy or girl who is going to amount to anything in life has to learn them sooner or later. Young people whose parents encourage them to fight shy of work today may not be able to escape it so easily in after life.

Refinements In Late Model Six Cylinder Car to Be Shown Today

Last fall the Oldsmobile factory startled the world with the announcement that it was going to build a six-cylinder car for less money than the average four and one that would give the same service as cars costing more money. Skeptics and knockers said that it could not be done that the car would not stand up, others said, "Well, if it does stand up it will be one of the best buys on the market."

A year has passed and it has proved itself and instead of knocking those same people are praising the Oldsmobile. Over forty thousand people are now driving the Oldsmobile Six and are getting the satisfying service that a good Six gives. The factory said the first year: "We will devote all our energy toward building the fine chassis and improve wherever possible." Slight changes have been made from time to time so that now the Oldsmobile is as free from trouble as any car can be.

At this time the factory announces that it is starting to refine the bodies and that it has brought out a newly-designed body and radiator along with other refinements. C. H. Hunter, Glendale dealer, says that it is hard to believe that such fine finish and design can be given for the money. The new style will be on display at 208 West Broadway late Saturday and until 2:30 o'clock Sunday and every day afterwards. "Come in and see one of the most beautiful of all new cars," says Mr. Hunter.

Oxygen Keeps Planes In Altitude Flights

LONDON, Aug. 16.—Feeding airplanes with oxygen to keep their engines going when flying at great heights is the latest development of airplane science.

Hitherto an airplane's speed has diminished as its height increased, but this drawback has been now overcome with the use of oxygen. At a recent trial in this country in which an airplane was fed with oxygen, a height of nearly six miles was reached without any speed being lost, while other tests have shown that an airplane can retain a speed of three miles a minute in very rarefied atmospheres with its use.

FEES SWELL RESOURCES OF STATE

Commissioner Pays General Fund $117,000 Surplus From Licenses

The real estate department during the past year turned over to the general fund of the state of California about $117,000 surplus money, according to a statement by Edwin T. Keiser, real estate commissioner, in the August issue of California Real Estate, official magazine of the California Real Estate association.

During the three years immediately preceding, $110,000 was turned back by the real estate commissioner, so that in excess of a quarter of a million dollars above the expense of the department has been turned over to the state from the receipts from licenses for real estate brokers and salesmen.

It is interesting to note that in spite of the fact that the pessimists are bewailing the quiet real estate market, the income for the year ending July, 1924, was $22,762.40 greater than that ending July, 1923.

May Ask Examination

According to Commissioner Keiser, the questionnaire which the applicants had to fill out last year may be abandoned this year. The questionnaire has served its purpose. The next step will be to appoint an examining board to examine applicants who will apply for a real estate broker license.

The commissioner is consulting with his legal advisers at this time to ascertain if such a method of procedure is possible under the law. If it is, it is the intention of the commissioner to have it in force by October 1, so that applicants for a 1925 license may have the opportunity of preparing themselves for the examination.

Surplus Money

Semi-official inquiries by the California Real Estate association have brought the information that the Real Estate act permits the appropriation of the surplus money earned through the issuing or real estate licenses for the purpose of real estate administration and enforcement. It is considered likely that efforts will be made to have the surplus used as a fund to advertise the state of California and to stimulate the sale of real estate in this state.

Each year has seen increased earnings by the real estate department of the state, and many brokers believe that the funds over the cost of operating the department should be appropriated for the good of business of real estate in California.

Colorado Control And Legal Program Will Be Discussed

Two very important meetings are scheduled by the California Real Estate association for next week.

On August 15, at Long Beach, W. I. Hollingsworth, chairman of the Colorado River committee, will discuss with seventy-five realtors from all sections of California the highly important matter of river control of the waters of the Colorado river with the purpose of making such recommendations as seem best suited to assure the Pacific southwest an adequate water supply.

On August 16, President Barbour will meet the directors of the state association to outline the legislative program and to complete the program for the annual convention of the association. This will be the third quarterly meeting of the directors, the last one before the Pasadena confab.

Long Beach Plans to Bond Realty Salesmen

According to advices received at the offices of the California Real Estate association the Long Beach realty board is favoring the passage of a city ordinance which is being drafted by Councilmen Cover and Callahan of Long Beach by which every salesman of house and lots in the city of Long Beach would be required to put up a bond of $1000 with the city before he can offer his wares. The council has been deluged with complaints about realty salesmen who, it is alleged, have failed to live up to their promises and it is with the firm backing of the Long Beach board of realtors that the campaign is being waged to rid the city of that type of realty dealer. There are 3500 persons engaged in selling real estate in Long Beach.

Adopt Covenant Plan To Bar Undesirables

The Berkeley realty board has adopted the covenant plan for protecting the city's exclusive residential sections from being invaded by Orientals and negroes, according to information received at state association headquarters from Secretary Eugene E. Stephenson. Residents of a particular district form a covenant, under the plan, and agree, for a certain period of years, to refrain from selling their property to Orientals or negroes. His plan was adopted after State Director C. C. Emslie and Fred Penk, who represented Berkeley at the national convention in Washington stated that it was working in the city of Washington and has been upheld by the District Court of Appeals.

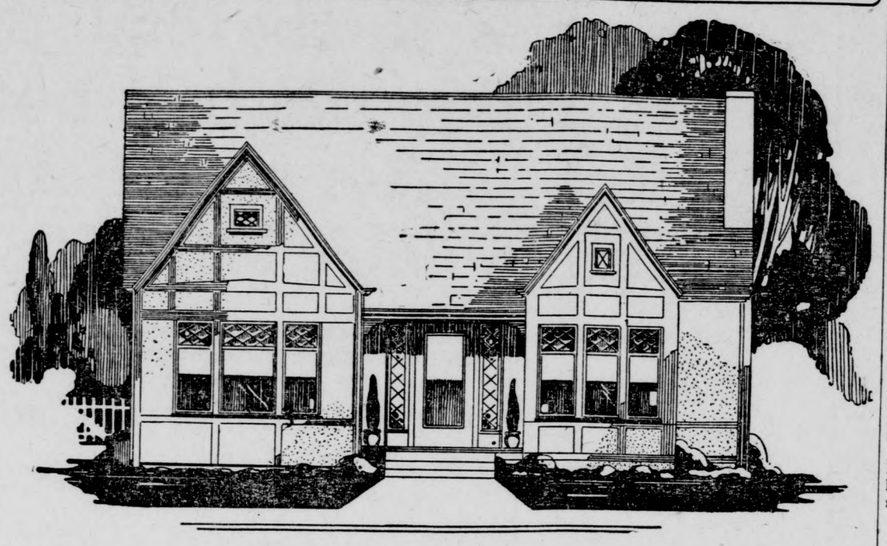
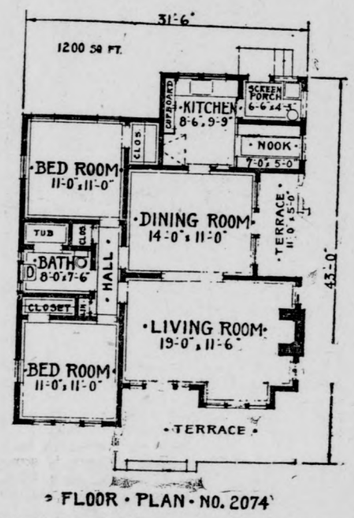
English Type of Bungalow

Plans and specifications for the attractive home shown herewith are on file in the service department of the BENTLEY LUMBER COMPANY, 460 West Los Feliz road, as well as many other designs that simplify the question of the construction of the new home.



A typical English bungalow home of such rare distinctiveness as to make it unusual in the extreme. Its general exterior design and arrangement shows the great care which has been given in executing the plans, not one detail has been overlooked that would add to its attractiveness and make it practical and substantial.

The same competent thought and efforts are incorporated into the well arranged and conveniently grouped rooms, and surely a plan embodying so many popular and practical features cannot help but make strong appeals and create desires for a home to be built from these complete detailed plans.



FLOOR · PLAN · NO. 2074

Some old proverb maker once said: "A thing begun is half done." There is a lot of truth in that statement. You remember the breath-taking plunge into the icy water in the first swim of the year? It's the start that is the hardest.

There used to be something of this difficulty in beginning a new home, but modern ideas of building and service have done away with all of this. It is only a question of knowing where to go for the right kind of help.

There is every assistance given the prospective builder who comes to the offices of the Bentley Lumber company, situated at 460 West Los Feliz road. The above plan may be seen and inspected at the company's offices, all building information is free, and estimate of cost will be gladly figured. The above design is one of hundreds this organization maintains for the home builder's inspection, which makes the selection of a proper floor plan and an attractive exterior easy.

Now is the time to make the start on the new home you have wanted so long—before the rush of the summer building season. A word to the wise is sufficient, and it is needless to remind you to buy your building material needs on the now present low tide market. Eliminate guess-work. Come in today and learn about this modern building service.

Famous Old Song to Charm State Realtors

"Silver Threads Among the Gold" and the man who made it famous will be one of the features of the twentieth annual convention of the California Real Estate association in Pasadena in October. Richard J. Jose, whose voice has thrilled millions and who is now a deputy real estate commissioner in charge of the department offices in San Francisco, will be one of the large San Francisco delegation to journey to Pasadena for the meeting. Mr. Jose has promised that he will sing his world-famous song at the annual banquet to be held in the Hotel Huntington. A second number by Jose, who has sung at the past three state conventions, will be "When You and I Were Young, Maggie."

Airplanes of Future To Be of Metal, Claim

LONDON, Aug. 16.—The day of the airplane constructed of metal and wood is past, and the era of the all-steel airplane is at hand, in the opinion of leading British aeronautical experts.

According to the experts, the deathknell of the wood-fabric plane has been sounded by the discovery by aeronautical scientists of a light metal alloy giving the strength of armor plating.

Economy In Building Is Only Road To Reduction Of Costs, Expert Claims

Those who are looking for a general reduction in building costs in the near future will be disappointed in these expectations, according to the views expressed today by S. W. Straus, president of S. W. Straus & Co.

"As the fall season approaches there is indicated the expectation upon the part of many that building costs are coming down," said Mr. Straus. "While there are always certain fluctuations in the costs of building materials, these advances and recessions are in large measure brought about through temporary local conditions affecting prices in certain specific products. The market for building materials is, of course, affected by general business conditions, which means that while there may be some depression with the slowing up of business and industry, there likewise comes a gain in prices with the resumption of more active conditions.

Can Reduce Costs

"It is to be borne in mind, however, that economies in building are possible through increased efficiency. By a closer scrutiny of building operations and a more careful and scientific planning of buildings, it is often possible to produce a property at a much lower cost than would be the case if these intensive efficiency methods had not been applied.

"This fact is becoming more generally understood as methods of economy and efficiency are evolved out of the necessities of the post-war situation. In large apartment house construction this development is especially pronounced. Without any sacrifice of convenience or comfort, scientific builders are creating a more compact type of home than formerly prevailed, while in commercial structures means have been found for utilizing a substantial amount of footage that hitherto has been wasted.

"In determining the probable trend of building costs, it is to be remembered that the principal element of expense, both in the manufacture of materials and in the assembling of these materials into buildings, is labor, which has shown no inclination to accept wage reductions, particularly in the large cities where the bulk of building activities prevail. On the contrary, there have been wage increases during the last six months ranging from 2½ to 12½ cents an hour in the principal building trades in most of the large cities of the country, while instances of reduced labor costs in the building crafts have been almost negligible. It is true that in many places bonus payments have been abolished, but these have merely been absorbed by increased wage scales.

Labor Would Suffer

"Manifestly, if there should be any pronounced widespread reduction in the cost of buildings it would be largely at the expense of building labor, and what might be gained in wage reductions would be lost in labor efficiency. It is a fundamental of human nature that men who are forced to work for less money and thus sacrifice the living standards which they and their families have been accustomed to, will not work as efficiently as where they are satisfied and happy.

"The only circumstances under which building labor would, I believe, even temporarily accept pronounced reductions in wages without sacrificing efficiency, would be in the face of a sweeping reduction of all costs of living, which would be an economic phenomenon involving a sacrifice of values neither to be expected nor desired by the people of the country.

Building Slows Up

"Evidence is not lacking that building operations are slowing down somewhat, but there is no likelihood that this easing off will reach a place where wage scales in the building crafts will fall. If such reductions should ensue, however, due to non-employment, present or possibly higher wages would come with the resumption of active building operations. To argue otherwise is to deny the influence of human nature in the solution of economic problems.

"The more logical solution of the building problem is stabilization of costs at approximately present levels, and there are consistent evidences that such a development is taking place. The abnormal activities which have been in evidence, particularly in the large cities of the country, for the last three years are being superseded by normal conditions. This cycle of building activity may be expected to produce stabilized costs, owing largely to the more evenly balanced conditions of supply and demand."

FARMERS TO TURN WEST FOR LAND

High Prices for Products Add Impetus to Move Toward Coast

Dr. Herman Janss, chairman of the farm lands division of the National Association of Real Estate Boards and managing director of the James ranch in the San Joaquin valley, is in Chicago opening the offices of his company in that city. He reports a general wave of optimism throughout the middle west and sees as a result of the high prices now prevailing for farm products an added impetus to the influx of farmers that are coming to California.

In a letter to the California Real Estate association, of which he is a director-at-large, Dr. Janss says:

Colonization Plans

"General optimism has taken command of the farm land army of California and a great statewide colonization movement has been inaugurated which will assume large proportions during the coming year."

Dr. Janss, with several others of the large land companies, has inaugurated a vigorous advertising campaign in the central states for California lands. He says that the movement to the land where good farming pays and where climate attracts all the world has been stimulated by the sensational rise in the prices of farm products. Many thousands of farmers who have been dreaming California for years will this year see the realization of that dream because of the improved financial conditions throughout the middle west.

Tujunga Realtors Inaugurate Class For Study Course

The Tujunga Valley Realty Board members decided that the heat would not interfere with their work and so inaugurated a real estate class on August 5. Harrison Lewis, chairman of the educational committee of the state association, announces that work is rapidly being completed on the second semester of the course in real estate offered by the California Real Estate Association and the University of Southern California. Secretary Clarence C. Buck, of the Tujunga Valley Realty Board, announced a large attendance on the first night of the school.

Fourteen Entries In Competition for Cup

Already fourteen boards have entered the Home Town contest in which the realtor telling in five minutes the best story of his home town will be awarded the Fred E. Reed loving cup. The president of the Pasadena realty board, Robert A. Swink, now holds the coveted trophy. Anaheim, Bakersfield, Beverly Hills, Fresno, Glendale, Huntington Park, Inglewood, Los Angeles, Oakland, Merced, Monrovia, Riverside, San Diego, Santa Ana and Whittier are the realty boards who have already entered speakers in the contest.

OPTIMISTIC TREND IS EVIDENT

Reports From All Over State Indicate Improvement In Conditions

From all over California reports reaching the headquarters of the state association from members of the realty boards indicate that there is a general feeling of optimism and progress throughout the state.

According to George W. McComber, Santa Barbara realtor, the city council has approved the $775,000 harbor improvement project there, and the past week saw a record price for land when Walter Douglas, New York realtor, paid $160,000 for eight acres of land with a frontage on the beach in Montecito.

Conditions Improve

D. Richard Ainsley, president of the San Joaquin Valley Realty association, reports conditions in the San Joaquin valley greatly improved. In San Joaquin county, the property subject to county taxation is assessed at $848,805 more than last year. While in 1923 the asparagus acreage in San Joaquin county was 3,000, this year there were 42,000 acres and the yield was excellent and the prices high.

Ray Edgar, El Centro realtor, states that the 62,000 acres of cotton in Imperial valley will

HALT CALLED ON EMOTIONS PROBE

Girl Students' Questions Are Stopped by Authorities Of University

By ROBERT T. SMALL
Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1924.

NEW YORK, Aug. 16.—"Have you ever been kissed?" "Did you like it?" "If not, why not?" "Answer yes or no." "Do you ever dream you are across town in your pajamas or your nightie, and have to walk home in that state of undress?"

At last the world is acquainted with some of the methods of the psychologists and psycho-analysts in gathering data on "emotional stability" and "sex direction." Columbia university has just put a stop to a very serious inquiry along this line by a very serious young girl student, but the questionnaire of the student has become public property, and now every man and woman can search himself or herself and find out what he or she registers in the emotional line. It is difficult, however, for the subject to classify himself or herself. That has to be done by an expert. So searching one's self will get one nowhere unless one has a family psychologist near at hand to give the examination papers the once over and mark the standing of the volunteer subject with a blue or red lead pencil.

Author Swamped

Since the announcement that some of the questions contained in the latest questionnaire could not be published with propriety in any family journal. the author of the questionnaire has been swamped with inquiries as to how they can get a copy and go to work on their own emotions.

Miss Ethel Goldsmith, summer student at Columbia and hailing from Cincinnati, where she has an exceedingly high standing in psychological circles, said today that, while she was deeply chagrined that her present inquiry should be halted, she would retain the questionnaire intact and use it again at a more opportune time. Miss Goldsmith protested there was nothing startling or bizarre about her questions and asserted that they followed precedents set in other inquiries along the same line. An effort is being made everywhere to catalogue and card index the emotions of the average young man and woman. Miss Goldsmith thought the four thousand summer students at Columbia would be ideal subjects. The students were not averse to the experiment. But now the authorities have stepped in and confiscated the questionnaires which had been distributed. Their excuse is that the inquiry was not being conducted by proper authority.

Simple Questions

It would seem that the psycho-analysts base their search of the human mind upon some of the simplest questions in the world. Just what deductions they draw from the answers to these simple inquiries the lay mind cannot grasp.

For instance. Miss Goldsmith wants to know first of all if you ever ran away from home and stayed out over night. A psychology student at Columbia last year framed the same question differently. She merely desired information as to whether you ever "wanted" to run away from home. Evidently psychology is a progesssive study and the inquiries of the present year must go deeper and beyond those of a previous twelve months.

Miss Goldsmith's inquiry of the girls as to whether or not any man had ever made love to them unquestionably would have received a 100 per cent "yes." What girl would admit she never had been?

The demand by Miss Goldsmith to know if you ever pick your teeth in public would appear at first glance to be a lesson in manners, but it is not. Picking one's teeth in public has a deeper meaning than that. It has a distinct bearing upon one's emotional stability. Miss Goldsmith ought to know, however, that if the subject habitually picked her teeth in public she would have to answer "no" to the question "Are you ever invited out?"

Ringing the Changes

A question aimed to determine if you would do things in a strange city that you would not do at home, is but ringing the changes on the old theory of influence of the tropics on one's morals. On advice of counsel no one would answer the question "Have you often stolen things?"

Miss Goldsmith's predecessor at Columbia wanted to know last year if you felt bored most of the time. It was quite generally and clearly answered, "Well, yes and no," so that much valuable data was added to the archives of the new soul-searching psychology. She also wanted to know if you got tired of people easily. The answer was that certainly one got tired of those that picked their teeth in public.

The most mysterious and significant question, however, was: "Do you love to be tickled?"

Naturally, the answer to that is that it all depends upon who does the tickling. Science may be baffled for a time, but at least now the people may know how science arrives at its profound conclusions. Also, we learn something of the stuff that alienists are made of.

A collection of editorial tributes to Warren G. Harding, published in the nation's press, will be preserved in Washington.

Among the first records of paper making in the American colonies was that of Leffingwell of Connecticut in 1768.

FARM CONDITIONS ARE PROSPEROUS

Money Available for Harvest Credit; Banks Help to Carry Stock Loss

By GIL A. COWAN
By Southland News Service.

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 16.—Agricultural conditions in California are much better than anticipated, according to G. H. Hecke, director of the state department of agriculture, in an exclusive interview with Southland News Service today. "One of the greatest things indicating sound prosperity here, in spite of the losses from foot-and-mouth disease and drouth, is the fact that there is money available to give the farmers all the credit necessary to enable them to harvest their crops," he said, adding:

"The state never had the foot-and-mouth disease before, and, therefore, there was no money available for appropriations. The losses in the epidemic, now nearly blotted out, amounted to more than $2,000,000. That could not be paid until the legislature met and appropriated the money, but, in a survey of the counties where the plague raged, I have found that practically all the farmers have been taken care of at their local banks.

Banks Aid Farmers

"The bankers have accepted the state's promise to pay—and if there were nothing else, that indicates the financial stability and prosperity of California, when it can absorb such losses so easily."

Mr. Hecke states there will be a shortage of feed crops, made more so by quarantines against the alfalfa weevil, but when the conditions become serious the state will find some method to meet the demand for hay from safe districts outside of the state. However, that means the price will probably be higher than before.

In Los Angeles county the director of agriculture finds the bankers and farmers are working together, and the adjustment is very pleasing. In restocking dairy ranches only the best cattle are being obtained to take the place of those slaughtered, and the misfortune will be more or less of a blessing in disguise.

Thief Binds Victim To Tree, Steels Auto

SANTA ROSA, Aug. 16.—In the third similar holdup in the past few weeks, a lone bandit early yesterday entered the Central garage, looted the till of $40 and forced the night man, L. R. Arnett, to drive him in the direction of Sonoma. Near Glen Ellen the bandit forced Arnett from the car, took his shirt from his back to make a rope, bound him to a tree and drove off in the machine. Arnett succeeded in freeing himself an hour later and notified the sheriff's office which started a search for the man and the machine.

MEDIUM PUZZLES SAVANTS IN TESTS

Spiritualism's Greatest Boom Seen In Results of Manifestations

By ROWLAND WOOD
Special correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1924

NEW YORK, Aug. 16.—Spiritualism in the United States today is on the verge of the greatest ten strike it has achieved since the famous Fox sisters startled the world back in 1848 with their spirit rappings and other manifestations, only to admit a few years later that they were the authors of a gigantic hoax.

Within a few weeks—if she can keep up her present record for non-exposure—Mrs. Leroi G. Crandon, pretty, vivacious young wife of a widely known Boston surgeon, will be awarded by a committee of five scientist judges the $2500 prize offered by the Scientific American to the first medium who could demonstrate to the satisfaction of a committee of scientists that his or her "manifestations" were genuine.

For four months now, the committee has been sitting in on seances held in Mrs. Crandon's home. More than fifty tests have been made, with the committee men devising device after device calculated to trap her in chicanery—and she has passed them all with flying colors.

Solitary Seances

J. Malcolm Bird, committee secretary, told the writer today that one more series of tests was being evolved in which to eliminate the meagre possibility of collusion on the part of members of the committee themselves, each member will have a solitary sitting with the medium.

Officially, it is not admitted that Mrs. Crandon is the medium under test. She made it a condition of her entry for the prize that her name be withheld unless she proved her claims. But Boston newspapermen have established conclusively in the last few days that it was Mrs. Crandon whom members of the committee had been journeying regularly to Boston to visit. The medium still is officially referred to as "Margery." Her spirit control is known as "Chester," a deceased brother.

Advance Is Shown

"I am not at liberty to disclose details of the latest tests to which Margery has been subjected," said Dr. Bird. "But I can say she has succeeded in having Chester perform satisfactorily on test equipment prepared by members of the committee without our being able to detect any signs of fraud. That is certainly a long step ahead of what any other mediums tried for the prize were able to do.

"As to whether Margery will win the prize that I obviously cannot say. The tests are not completed yet. But the fact that they still continue is proof that she has not yet been disclosed as a charlatan."

The demonstration Mrs. Crandon has given so far and in which the committee have been unable to detect trickery has been the moving of various objects in the seance room; flashing of weird lights; whistling and vocal communication.

Savants on Committee

The committee men whom she has so far mystified are Dr. William MacDougall of Harvard University; Dr. R. F. Comstock, former professor at Massachusetts Institute of Technology; Dr. W. F. Prince, director of the American Society for psychic research and exposure of the famous ghost of Antigonish; Herrin Ward Carrington and Harry Houdini, stage magician.

Even if Mrs. Crandon is awarded the prize she will not necessarily have proved spiritualism, in the eyes of the committee, although there is no doubt her success will add greatly to the strength of the spiritualism movement in the United States.

"We regard our investigation as an investigation of psychic phenomena rather than of spiritualistic phenomena," explained Dr. Bird. "The first question to be determined is whether the manifestations claimed by the medium actually happen. If it can be proven that they are genuine there will still be the question to determine: Were they the workings of some unknown force—such as electricity once was—over which the medium has gained control."

An Appeal to Glendale Housewives

Please return milk bottles—don't hoard them. Cooperate with these dairies to the end that they can maintain the best possible service. Read these provisions of the California dairy law:

General Dairy Law of California, 1923

CONTAINERS TO BE KEPT SANITARY AND IN GOOD CONDITION. Sec. 18. Every person, firm or corporation, not a common carrier, who receives from a private or common carrier in cans, bottles, vessels or other containers, any milk, cream, ice cream, or other product of milk intended for human consumption, which has been transported over any railroad, or boat or freight line, or by other common or private carrier, which said cans, bottles, vessels or other containers, are to be returned to the manufacturer, distributor, consignor or shipper, shall cause said empty cans, bottles, vessels or other containers to be thoroughly cleansed and sterilized by boiling water or superheated steam before return shipment of the same, and every private or common carrier before accepting such cans or containers to be returned to the manufacturer or distributor shall require that each container be plainly marked with the name and address of the person returning same. All milk bottles, cans or containers of any kind in which dairy products are kept, stored, transported or delivered shall be sound, smooth, free from rust, or open seams and at all times kept in a condition which will permit thorough cleansing of all surfaces with which the milk or its products comes in contact. Bottles, cans, tubs, cabinets, containers or other receptacles commonly used for the reception, storage or delivery of milk, cream, ice cream or other products of milk shall not be used as a receptacle for or storage place of any vegetables, fish, fowls, meats or other foodstuffs or refuse matter, bottles or filthy or offensive substances or for any other purpose than that for which it was originally intended. All empty cans, bottles, vessels or other containers delivered to the producer by the manufacturer, retailer, or distributor for the reception of dairy products, shall be kept by said producer in a clean, sanitary, sterile condition and shall be used for no other purpose whatsoever. ALL EMPTY CANS, BOTTLES, VESSELS OR OTHER CONTAINERS DELIVERED TO THE CONSUMER BY RETAILER OR DISTRIBUTOR SHALL BE THOROUGHLY CLEANSED BEFORE RETURNING THE SAME TO THE RETAILER OR DISTRIBUTOR.

OFFENSES AND PENALTIES. Sec. 22 (a) * * * Any person, firm or corporation who shall violate any of the provisions of this act, or the rules and regulations for its enforcement shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, punishable by fine of not less than twenty-five dollars nor more than five hundred dollars, or by confinement in the county jail not less than ten days nor more than ninety days, or by both such fine and imprisonment. * * *

Notice to Our Customers:

On and after August 11, 1924, these companies will charge their retail drivers a 5c deposit on all bottles delivered by them, and you are requested to return them as soon as possible. Only bottles bearing our own brand, which the retail driver left you, will be accepted. When purchasing milk from a store, you will receive a store bottle upon deposit of 5c, and this bottle must be returned to the store in exchange for another bottle or deposit refund.

No bottles other than the store bottle will be accepted by a creamery from a wholesale customer, and neither will a store bottle be accepted by a creamery from a retail customer, thereby eliminating the possibility of mixing and of having to sort and return to the rightful owners numerous brands of bottles which continually find their way into the various creamery plants.

COTTAGE FOR VETERANS

OXNARD, Aug. 16.—Assisted by members of the American Legion of Ventura county, the Women's auxiliary will see erected on Sunday a cottage for disabled veterans on the beach at Hueneme. Already two cottages are being operated by the Ventura Legion men and women, one at Foster park and the other at Ojai.

KILLS MOUNTAIN LION

SANTA BARBARA, Aug. 16.—Tom Forsythe, forest patrolman in the Mono section of the Santa Barbara national forest, reported to headquarters here today that he had bagged a mountain lion under unusual circumstances. The animal crept up on him during the night and he broke a shoulder blade with one shot. This only infuriated his attacker and Forsythe had to climb a tree, only to lose his gun. With a forked stick he hooked the weapon and finished the task of disposing of the animal.

DOG IS DEPORTED

SAN PEDRO, Aug. 16.—While hundreds of young men and boys looked on with eager yearning for a trip to the Orient, only a dog was deported on the tanker Nassa, bound for China, because Patrolman Vigneau essayed to tell Captain Hagenbaugh it was a "Chinese cookie hound." Many a man exclaimed that a dog's luck is better than their own.

RUSSIANS WANT DATA

RIVERSIDE, Aug. 16.—Evidently the Russians are looking for a more healthy place than Leningrad, for a request has come from Dr. D. Gordinsky asking information about Riverside county's hot springs. The letter was mailed July 22 and received yesterday at the Chamber of Commerce.

REPORT GOOD RAIN

SAN JACINTO, Aug. 16.—An inch and a half of rain was received this week in the San Jacinto mountains, according to reports from Idyllwild. This breaks the season's drouth and streams were replenished which otherwise would have dried before the usual September rains.

DEMOCRATS FACE WAR OF FACTIONS

Controversy Dates Back to Ticket Allotment at National Meeting

By DAVID LAWRENCE
Special correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1924

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16.—Much curiosity seems to have manifested itself here as to whether the acriminous debate in the Democratic national committee meeting at Clarksburg presages a continuance of the factional warfare inside the Democratic party.

The significance of the controversy was not apparent on the surface, but it dates back to the fight over the allotment of tickets at the Madison Square Garden and was not, as has been suggested in some quarters, an effort to punish a McAdoo leader.

Had there been any concerted effort on the part of the anti-McAdoos to show their feeling they would have logically opposed the selection of Samuel Amidon, of Kansas, who was selected as vice chairman. Mr. Amidon has been one of the staunchest of the McAdoo group, but he was chosen unanimously. J. Bruce Kremer, of Montana, however, who as vice chairman, had the unpleasant task of handling the tickets, incurred several enmities, and they came home to roost at the national committee meeting.

Tempest In Teapot

The quarrel, however, was really a tempest in a teapot and could never have developed a protracted debate but for a parliamentary tangle which the inexperienced new chairman, Clem Shaver, was unable, on the one hand, to straighten out. He was, on the other hand, reluctant to inject himself in the row because of the possible after-effects.

Mr. Shaver is a docile man of a conciliatory disposition, and he did not feel that he should begin his job by attempting to iron out personal animosities. Before the national committee began its meeting there was talk of punishing Mrs. Emily Newell Blair for her alleged activities in behalf of McAdoo because, as vice chairman, she was supposed to be neutral. She insists she was. But some of the ambitious women who wanted her job used it as an excuse for an attack. The fight did not develop, however, and Mrs. Blair was unanimously re-elected vice chairman. It was a tribute to her indefatigable efforts in the committee and part of a program of continuing in power the existing officers because of their familiarity with the work of organization.

Affair Exaggerated

The moment it was suggested that the selection of Mayor Frank Hague, of Jersey City, as vice chairman, would be welcomed by the Democrats of the east, the McAdoo men in the committee promptly acquiesced and helped make his choice unanimous. Mr. Hague was a supporter of Governor Al Smith, of New York. All in all, the long wrangle was not of real consequence and Senator Thomas Walsh, of Montana, who made the fight for the retention of Mr. Kremer, said afterwards that the incident had been given exaggerated attention.

Mr. Kremer will occupy an important post in the campaign and probably will be one of the principal managers in the western campaign. George Brennan, of Illinois, who was the leader of the Smith forces at the convention, paid tribute to Mr. Kremer's ability and said specifically that he wanted Mr. Kremer associated with the western headquarters at Chicago.

This illustrates, however, how far behind the Democrats are in the matter of organization. Their convention was delayed and the notification ceremonies held up the selection of managers because the national committee did not begin to function for the campaign with full authority until the Clarksburg meeting. John W. Davis is expected here this week to help get the national headquarters going. There may be old scores which will continue to bring out personal differences, but they do not affect in any way the support given Mr. Davis. He has a remarkably united organization behind him.

Improvement Shown Over All California

bring excellent prices. The cantaloupe season was one of the best enjoyed by the valley. Renewed activity in real estate is noticeable throughout the district.

R. F. Cross, Visalia realtor, reports the sale of 370 acres of farm lands near Visalia within the past five days. C. C. Sims of Farmersville paid $8,500 cash for a 40-acre tract near Visalia.

B. H. Sidnam, president of the Anaheim realty board announces that by October 1 the first of the plants to occupy the new industrial district in Anaheim will be in operation. It will mean a payroll of $3,000 weekly to the city. It is the plant of the Shreveport Glass Company, and is moving to Anaheim from Shreveport, La.

Run Excursions

H. B. Klingensmith of the Sutter Basin company in Sacramento reports that three special excursion trains have been run from the middle west to the properties north of Sacramento, and that this year will mark a record for the sale of farms in that section.

Huntington Park, Bell, Inglewood and South Pasadena all report increased activity both in real estate and building within the past two weeks.

Reports from President Allen of the San Francisco real estate board show remarkable gains in the outlying bay city districts.

Every section of California reports increased real estate activity and the farm districts state that the farmers here are enjoying their greatest year since the war.

EJECT SCOFFERS AT SPIRIT SEANCE

Medium Calmly Carries on After Skeptics Are Removed From Room

By A. M. OLIPHANT
Special correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1924

BRADY LAKE, Ohio, Aug. 16.—There was a time not so many years ago when an attempt to investigate spiritualism by flashing lights at the critical moment in a seance would have broken up the meeting and might have resulted unpleasantly for the investigators. Those days are no more, at least so far as this spiritualism center is concerned.

Nowadays, so strong is the faith of the votaries of spiritualism that a medium, when exposed, merely ejects the disturber, returns his price of admission—and goes on with the seance.

Brady Lake is, perhaps, one of the greatest centers of spiritualism in the United States. At all times, there is a spiritualist community here. But it is during the summer months that the resort reaches the height of its occult activities and amazing scenes are reported daily from a never-ending round of seances. Any person who lays claim to the possession of mediumistic powers is welcome, and always is sure of an audience at $1 per head.

Probe Medium

Naturally, there are always a few doubting Thomases and some of these this week engaged Marion Wolcott and several other trained investigators to look over the establishment of H. G. Burroughs, one of the most popular of the present crop of mediums.

Provided with electric flashlights, the investigators slid unostentatiously into their places, along with some thirty regular patrons. The lights were extinguished. Then, to "promote harmonious vibrations" the auditors joined in singing "Nearer, My God, to Thee," while the medium took his place in the cabinet.

A moment of eerie silence followed the conclusion of the hymn. Then a voice called for "Catherine." A young woman named Catherine answered from her place in the circle. She thought she recognized the voice of the "spirit" as that of a relative, and inquired whether "Brother" was with the spirit on the other side.

"Brother is with me," replied the voice, and immediately there sounded a deeper voice. "Hello, Catherine," it said. "I am right here beside you."

Recognizes Voice

Catherine also thought she recognized this voice, and carried on with the two shades a conversation that lasted nearly five minutes. Then another voice asked for "Frank." From the circle, Frank responded, but he was unable to recognize his interrogator and the conversation was abruptly terminated.

A third mysterious summons was heard and another man in the audience replied.

At the moment one of the investigators switched on his flashlight and disclosed Medium Burroughs, out of the cabinet, sitting on a stool with a trumpet in his hand. It was evident he had been calling from the other plane.

A moment's confusion followed. The man with the light was ejected by attendants and the seance went calmly on.

Pretty soon another flash-light caught Medium Burroughs out on the stool with his trumpet. The wielder of the flash-light followed his companion into exile and once more the seance was resumed. Even the flashing of a third light failed to shake the faith of the auditors.

Investigator Wolcott kept his flash-light in his pocket. He wanted to see just how credulous the spirit-seekers were. He came away convinced that nothing could shake their simple, child-like faith.

"They come to Brady Lake to be convinced," Wolcott said. "They seek the consolation of hearing the voices of their dead loved ones, and no one can convince them, no matter how many sounds emanate from the medium's trumpet that the medium is responsible for all of them."

Rival Concerns Seek Supervisors' Ruling

RIVERSIDE, Aug. 16—A fight between the Los Angeles Pressed Brick company and the Los Angeles Brick company, competing concerns, will be settled August 25 when the county supervisors act finally on a petition of the former to close a road which would keep the latter from access to the Santa Fe railroad, it is claimed, at Alberhill where both own valuable clay deposits. The road crosses the Pressed Brick company's property.

New York Mortality Rate Shows Increase

ALBANY, Aug. 16.—The mortality rate for New York state, exclusive of New York city, increased last year over 1922, according to the State Department of Health.

In 1922 the rate was 14.4 per 1,000 population, while in 1923 it was 14.8. The latter, however, was a point less than the average for the five-year period of 1917-1921.

New York city for some years has had a lower death rate than the state at large.

Time For Recreation
School Opens Again
The Liquor Problem
Safety Week Lesson

—By Gil A. Cowan—

Have you had your vacation? This is the season and those who wait until late no doubt will appreciate the week or two they take each year for recreation.

And there is no better word to describe a true vacation than recreation. To get out in the open, away from the office or store; to get out in the country away from the madding throng; to get down by the seashore where the waves murmur nothings the whole day long.

Why, vacation is more than medicine; yes, more than play. It is the bringing back of all the vitality which has been lost in the worries and work of a whole long year.

Yet, strange to say, there comes a time when the urge to return to the grind becomes paramount. The mind and body seem like a spring, which, tempered by the freedom of a few days, rebounds to duty as good as ever.

Everybody should have a period of relaxation, otherwise they will be subject to sickness and enforced rest. But care should be exercised that vacations are not made miserable by overdoing a good thing, such as making long motor trips, or visiting too many man-made amusements, or being afflicted with sunburn.

And after vacation comes school for the teachers and children. That is a good subject for later comment. However, it is safe to assume that both parties to school life live in anticipation of the coming semester.

Over in Orange county school already has begun in those communities close to the walnut groves. Late in October a vacation will be granted so the youngsters can join in harvesting the crop of nuts.

That's a practical idea, because there is nothing more important in a child's life than learning how to be useful.

Sometimes we believe that every youth, speaking of ambitious boyhood, should be forced to earn his own way from sixteen years of age. Particularly should this be the case of college students.

We would not likely have the Leopold and Loeb types if they were working instead of gambling.

Public opinion, much less local and national laws, like many men's will power, does not seem to be able to master the liquor problem in the United States.

Despite the eighteenth constitutional amendment, the Volstead enforcement act, the question of prohibition prohibiting resolves itself into the power of public opinion.

Not until bootleggers are placed in jail for no less than a year's period, drunks given jail sentences and the illegal possession of liquor made more costly by the courts will there be any marked change in the present status.

"Safety week" in Glendale is drawing to a close with a very fair record, but it remains for motorists to continue careful driving. An honest endeavor to prevent wrecks will save many lives in the course of a year.

The Pacific Electric and the Southern Pacific railroads have accomplished a great deal by their "Safety First" campaigns. The Automobile Club of Southern California likewise has been a big factor in minimizing the number of accidents among motorists.

But, just as the Pacific Electric has found it necessary to spread upon the record of its motormen reports of wrecks, speeding and other violations of regulations, it might be well for officers to note careless and reckless drivers so they may be properly dealt with. Motorists could join in reporting those who maliciously "cut in," refuse to observe warning signals or give signals, and when card indexed this record would be of material benefit to judges imposing sentence.

The only difficulty encountered with putting the foregoing idea into effect would be the amount of work entailed for some employee of the state and municipality.

Apparently a real danger lies in the power wires which are found by pilots at one end of the Glendale airport. Two machines have been wrecked within a week in attempts to miss those wires in landing. No doubt something will be done now about the situation.

Deer Ruining Fruit Trees, Farmers Claim

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 16.—Protests that deer are stripping their fruit trees and causing heavy losses have been filed with the state department of agriculture by farmers of Gold Hill, Coloma, Lotus, Georgetown and other communities in the northern part of the state.

The heaviest destruction is caused by does and fawns making their lairs in the brush close to the orchards, according to the reports of the irate orchardists. The farmers suggested that open season be declared on the pests.

A new island of volcanic origin is reported to have been sighted between the Philippines and French Indo-China.

GROSSMAN SEEKS PLACE ON BENCH

Candidate for Full Term In Superior Court Wins Strong Support

M. I. Grossman, who is a candidate for one of the dozen full term vacancies on the bench of the Superior Court of Los Angeles county, announced today through his campaign committee that he was exceedingly gratified with the support accorded him by voters of the Southland.

More than 5000 names are enrolled with the "Grossman-for-Judge Club," comprising many of the leading business men of the county. Branch clubs are being formed outside Los Angeles, and these look forward to great success in aiding Mr. Grossman in his race for judgeship.

Active in City

During his past fourteen years of successful law practice in Los Angeles, Mr. Grossman has made a host of friends and has always been closely identified with many of the major civic and charitable organizations, striving for betterment of social and educational conditions in this city.

Mr. Grossman is a graduate of the law department of the University of South Carolina, and has been prominently affiliated with the numerous bar associations throughout the country.

He is a member of the Masonic lodge, Knights of Pythias, Foresters, Odd Fellows, and other fraternal societies which is, indeed, a splendid testimonial of his high ideals which are so necessary for this judicial post.

Pledges Justice

Speaking of his candidacy, Mr. Grossman says: "Every man should consider it a high honor to be entrusted with the many responsibilities that go with the office of judge of the Superior court. To my mind, there can be no greater service to the public of Los Angeles than that of presiding as judge in their court of justice. I feel this honor and this responsibility deeply, and by showing fair consideration for all in the protection of their personal liberty and property rights, irrespective of social station, race or creed, I will be rendering a most important service to mankind. I take this means of thanking my friends and supporters for their confidence in me, and if the public at large sees fit to elect me to this judicial post, I can only assure them of my willingness to serve faithfully in the carrying out of justice towards all."

Combined with Mr. Grossman's fourteen years of practice in his profession in this city is the excellent judgment of his forty-two years. His friends believe him to be well qualified to serve as Superior Court judge, and his clean record for ability and fairness would undoubtedly assist him to establish a high standard in court efficiency.

PLAN EXPANSION OF CHAIN STORES

Piggly-Wiggly Program Calls For Greater Business In L. A. District

Indicative of the properity of Southern California, in spite of the talk of industrial depression that has been to the fore lately, is the program of expansion planned by the California Piggly-Wiggly company, operating a chain of stores of that name. According to an announcement by President Arthur C. Jones, the expansion program announced for 1924 at the beginning of the year will be doubled before the end of December.

Last January, President Jones announced that his concern would open a total of fifteen new stores in the Los Angeles territory. Already this program has been exceeded, nineteen new establishments having opened their doors. Ten more are now scheduled for opening, half of them in the city proper, and the others in the immediate vicinity of Los Angeles. The value of stock and fixtures required for this expansion is in the neighborhood of $500,000, while the value of the real estate required to house the new institutions represents approximately a similar sum.

Increase Stores

Forty-two stores are now operating in the Los Angeles district, according to President Jones, and the end of the year will see this increased to fifty-two. The stores now operating are handling an average of 120 carloads of groceries and food products monthly —representing approximately 2,500 tons of foodstuffs.

"While the so-called depression may exist locally in some lines of business, it is not apparent in the grocery trade," Mr. Jones declared. "Our business shows a normal increase through the summer. I believe that the depression is chiefly the effect of the settling down of the realty market, and when this reaches it's final adjustment, which should be soon, I look for a tremendous commercial and industrial boom in Southern California. Business in every line, I believe, is due for a tremendous increase within the next two months."

BACK-TO-BEARDS MOVE LAUNCHED

Husbands to Seek Revenge On Wives for Bobbing Their Tresses

By EDNA MARSHALL
Special correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1924

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16.—Can a woman bob her hair against her husband's wishes and get away with it?

Washington barbers who cut the hair and did not touch the sprouting beards of at least fourteen male customers today suggested what will be the answer to that question.

"You bob your hair and I will grow a beard so long I can tuck it in my overshoes."

The fourteen rebel husbands so repeated the challenges they had expressed to their now bobbed wives. They were found in groups of two and three, discussing their plans and caressing bristly chins in the fashionable barber shops of the city. Three of them were young—the others were middle-aged.

Points to Whiskers

With all the enthusiasm of a convert, Randolph Green, who boasts just 30 years, pointed to the prickles on his face, told of the hearthstone battle hair had begun and of what seems likely to be its end.

"We are going back to the age of hair—we will drive the women back in self-defense by going back ourselves," he said. "We will organize on a 100 per cent basis with none but the men who are suffering from bob-haired wives eligible for our campaign. And we are going to fight against short hair in earnest.

"Bobbed hair is for the flappers," he continued hotly. "It is not for women, certainly not for wives of men who must maintain a position of more or less dignity. And I told my wife that I would not let her have her hair bobbed, threatening to grow a frightful beard if she did.

Planning Revenge

"Well, she did, and I am. And a group of other men who felt the same way are going to take the same revenge. I know of twenty who have already begun. Others will follow suit. And I can guarantee that we'll let our hair grow and grow—if it has to be tucked in our shoes—until they call off the bob."

Out of the shop that minute stepped Mrs. Emma Barnes Smith, with 80 years to her credit, her newly bobbed white tresses curling about her cheeks. Stunned by the roar of his voice, she stopped a minute to listen and then counter attacked:

"Bobbed hair is not for the flappers. Bobbed hair is for every woman who wants to be comfortable. That is why I had mine cut. It is much more convenient, and anyway everybody else is doing it. So why shouldn't I—and any woman?"

Her tone clearly implied that it was much more logical for any woman to cut her locks for comfort than for any man to grow his facial hair for revenge. And there was the suggestion of a gloat in the idea that small comfort was to lie in such a man's satisfaction.

Back to the Beards

Still the back-to-the-beards movement is on. Twenty years ago beards and side whiskers were common, even to young men. Earlier, beards were even more popular. Presidents, generals, statesmen, diplomats and other public characters wore them in every style.

Today beards—save the embryo ones—are rare in the United States. "We are not trying to set a style," said the spokesman. "We have no idea of being handsome. But we have a jolly notion that when our wives have to be seen with us on the street with our beards their hair will begin to grow."

MURPHY PLAYERS GUESTS AT SHOW

Manager Loper Gives Special Showing of 'Girl Shy' At The Gateway

Murphy's Comedians, at the close of their performance of "Tess of the Storm Country" in their tent theatre at Stocker street last night, removed the grease paint, hopped into their street clothes and came downtown to the Gateway theatre, where they were the guests of Manager B. E. Loper and his staff at a special showing of Harold Lloyd's screen success, "Girl Shy."

The entertainment for Murphy's Comedians was staged after the regular show in the Gateway, and really amounted to a private view of the picture that has been scoring such a pronounced success wherever it has been shown, and the courtesy extended to the members of the Murphy organization by Manager Loper was greatly appreciated by Manager J. A. Menard and his popular players.

"The opportunity offered us by Manager Loper to see "Girl Shy'," said Mr. Menard, "was the first chance many of the members of Murphy's Comedians have had to witness any other performances than their own in a long time, and the choice of the picture was a most happy one, combining, as it does, a lot of hearty laughs with a clean performance that is characteristic of all of Harold Lloyd's pictures."

RACE INTERESTS GLENDALE FOLKS

Claire T. Van Etten, Former Resident Here, Seeks Term as Judge

Many Glendale people will take a deep interest in the campaign that is being waged by Attorney Claire T. Van Etten for election to the Superior court of Los Angeles county, for the full term, when it is recalled that the candidate made his home here from 1910 to 1923 and that he is the son-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. David Black, 250 Kenneth road.

Attorney Van Etten was born in Dayton, Ill., and received his early education at the grammar and high schools of East Batavia, Ill. He studied law at the University of Illinois, later attending the University of Southern California, where he was awarded the degree of LL.B. in 1912. He was admitted to practice in the state and federal courts in the same year, and has been engaged in general practice in Los Angeles since his admission to the bar, as a member of the firm of Groff, Montgomery & Van Etten from 1912 to 1915; and as Groff & Van Etten from 1915 to 1922, since which time he has been associated with Judge Lewis A. Groff.

During the years since 1917 Attorney Van Etten has held the position of professor of law at the University of Southern California, teaching the subjects of real property, community property, mining law and torts.

After leaving Glendale last year the candidate made his home in Pasadena, where he and his wife and four children have become affiliated with the Presbyterian church.

Among the organizations that have endorsed the candidacy of Attorney Van Etten are the Young Men's Republican league, the Clean Government league, Los Angeles Civic league, Anti-Saloon league and the Women's Christian Temperance union.

Bulgarians Must Not Take Currency Away

SOFIA, Aug. 16.—As a means of strengthening the financial position of the country, the Bulgarian government has issued a decree forbidding the issuance of foreign checks or the exportation of money in any form without a government permit.

The decree specifically states that no money may be taken from the country by people going abroad for recreation. Students, also, are not allowed to take money from the country when they go to study in foreign universities.

Blood Poison Remedy Dyes Patient's Face

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 16.—If you see a person walking down the street with a black, tan, purple, or some other unusual facial color, he isn't trying to break into the movies, according to Dr. C. C. Berwick.

It's a plain dye now beginning to be used generally by physicians as a cure for blood-poisoning, for which, until a few months ago, the medical profession had no definite cure.

The dyes are injected into the blood, killing the germs and coloring the patient's features at the same time.

CHICAGO'S COLOR PROBLEMS GROW

Extension of African Race Blamed for Crime Wave In Windy City

By O. L. SCOTT
Special correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1924

CHICAGO, Aug. 16.—The "black belt" gradually extending through the center of Chicago is being found the center of the midsummer crime wave that has swept the city, bringing an almost unprecedented number of killings and major felonies.

Here, one of the largest negro districts in the country, already populated by nearly 200,000, is being flooded with floaters and unemployed. Recent outbreaks have caused Chief of Police Morgan Collins to throw in additional police reserves. Irresponsible colored elements, he says, are causing the great number of law-abiding to get the reputation of a criminal class.

Yet Chicagoans don't like to consider the problems raised by their rapidly extending colored section. They take little interest in the killings, the gambling, the depredations of the near South Side, which is solidly black. But they are becoming seriously concerned as the negroes leave the old scenes and trek gradually south.

Into New Areas

Already they have taken over the one time "gold coast" of the South Side. In scattered families they are reaching out as far as Seventieth street, some seeping over into districts approaching the elite Hyde Park neighborhood. Washington park—a former great playground for South Siders, was this summer largely taken over by negroes. Their advance has caused property owners to form an association with funds pledged to buy any real estate which a negro seeks to purchase in the remaining white portion of the South Side, one of the most aristocratic of residential sections.

Alfred Anderson, editor of the Defender, negro weekly publication, claiming over a half million circulation, told the writer that the negroes do not intend to restrict themselves to their present bounds, but will live wherever they feel they care to live and have means to buy property.

Demand Privileges

"We feel," he said, "that we should have the same privileges as any other class. The attitude of some property owners, who shy for blocks around when some one of us buys property in a new section, has enabled the colored people to profit. They have been able to buy real estate for a song, and later to sell to their own people for near the fair price. This attitude of the white residents is neither fair nor sensible."

The editor declared that the negroes of Chicago, who form probably the largest colony in the country, are satisfied. Unemployment, however, has hit them hard. The result is the outbreak of the crime wave which the police chief has found to be centered in the black belt. He has set out to close up some of the gambling halls where the galloping dominoes romp for high stakes. Tough loafers are being hauled in nightly in big catches. The police say that they are getting noticeable results in their attempt to rid the district of serious crime.

Work On Farms

Incoming negroes, however, are finding it hard to get work and here the editor of their paper says that efforts are being directed to head them for farms in the undeveloped regions of Wisconsin, Minnesota and Michigan. Some already have set out for these cheap land sections, he declares, while others are being urged to try their hand at northern agriculture.

Negroes have taken over the work in the packing house district almost to the exclusion of white help and are filling a good share of the unskilled jobs in other industries. With most of the negro population concentrated in its own section, friction with whites is largely lacking, a fact that leads the editor of the negro Defender to say that likelihood of further disturbances such as the race riot of five years ago is remote.

The trouble now comes from criminals who have infested the negro district, bringing with them a wave of crime that may become even more serious when unemployment is heavy in the winter months.

STORE EMPLOYES PICNIC AT BEACH

Pendroy's Progressive Club Eat, Sing and Frolic at Santa Monica

Beneath a bright summer moon on a secluded part of the Palisades beach at Santa Monica, seventy-five members and guests of Pendroy's Progressive club enjoyed a beach outing last night. The Pendroy store on South Brand boulevard at Harvard street closed a half hour earlier in order that the picnickers could be on their way by 5 o'clock.

Gay banners decorated the eighteen or more automobiles that transported the store employes, their husbands or wives, and other guests to the beach.

Upon reaching the Palisades a huge bonfire was built and over the glowing coals wieners were toasted and eaten with delicious buns. Later marshmallows were toasted to be eaten with special cakes.

Special Guests

After the beach supper singing was enjoyed around the bonfire and Thurston Knudsen, a special guest, entertained with songs, accompanying himself on the ukelele. Swimming and dancing were also features of the outing.

Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Pendroy entertained as their special guests Misses Mildred, Helen and Gertrude Madden, Miss Wilhelmina Howard, Mrs. J. C. Knudsen, Thurston Knudsen, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Kelly.

Mrs. May Shaffer and Miss Sybil were also special guests at the affair.

Exchange of Foreign Students Is Planned

LONDON, Aug. 16.—Another scheme for the interchange of college students as a means of promoting friendly relations between nations is being promoted in Europe by Marens M. Marks, of New York, former president of the Borough of Manhattan.

Marks' scheme is for an exchange of students between the United States, England, France and other countries. The movement has been approved by the American Council on Education and is now being discussed with leading European educators.

TIGERS, INDIANS PLAY 15 FRAMES

Seattle Beats Vernon 5-4 As Hannah Drops Ball At Home Plate

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 16.—Tense moments with position at stake in the Pacific Coast league gave the baseball bugs at Washington park yesterday afternoon a real thrill, as the Seattle Indians conquered the clawing Vernon Tigers in the fifteenth inning, when "Truck" Hannah dropped the ball thrown to him as Jimmy Welsh hotfooted home with the winning run, the score being 5 to 4.

By this victory the Seals are tied for top place by the Seattle club, for San Francisco lost to the Salt Lake Bees in Mormon town, 11 to 8. Stueland and Ludolph started for the Indians and Tigers. In the seventh Jones replaced the former, and in the ninth Ludolph gave way to a pinch hitter, and Jimmy Christian finished the fray.

Seattle opened the game with two runs in the first, Lane getting hit by a pitched ball, and Brady making a homer out of a line drive which sent Chadbourne sprawling when his dive for the horsehide proved futile. Vernon scored four in the fourth and Seattle put across a pair in the eighth, tying the game for six hard-fought innings featured by double-plays, tight pinches and whatnot that kept the fans in the bleachers to the very last minute.

Salt Lake piled up six runs in the lucky seventh and won, 11 to 8, over the Seals, who saw Oliver Mitchell, their star twirler, fail to do his stuff and give way to Schorr. Kallio weakened for the Bees in the eighth, however, and was replaced by Mulcahy.

The Oaks downed the Portland Beavers in the Bay City, 8 to 6, credit for the victory going to Harris, although Foster pitched good ball before he was relieved.

Los Angeles lost to Sacramento, 7 to 6, in eleven innings.

WHITE SOX PLAY OILERS TOMORROW

Bay District Team Coming In Attempt to Boost Up Own Record

The Glendale White Sox, winners of twenty-six of the last twenty-seven games they have played, will hook up tomorrow afternoon at the park on San Fernando road with Chanslor-Canfield-Midway oilers, one of the strongest teams in the Bay District league.

Elmer Reiger will draw the pitching assignment for the White Sox, Manager Carl Sawyer has announced, while Huffaker, pitching ace of the Bay District league, will be on the mound for the visitors. Huffaker has hurled the Oilers to victory in the last eleven games, and is anxious to keep up his record here tomorrow.

Big Boy Joe Sullivan will be behind the plate for the local team, while Eddie Copeland, former big-league catcher and manager of the Oilers, will do the receiving for the visitors. The game will start promptly at 2:30 o'clock, and should furnish plenty of thrills.

QUESTION—Can a good public school pitcher ever become a pitcher in the National league? Name some one.

ANSWER—There is no reason in the world why he cannot. Waite Hoyt of the New York Americans once pitched for Erasmus Hall in Brooklyn, a public school, and that is where he attracted the attention of McGraw.

QUESTION—Which pitcher has the most strike-outs to his credit in the major leagues this year?

ANSWER—Too early for those statistics. They have not been made up by the major league offices and all other figures are non-official.

QUESTION—If a player is caught between bases and run down does each fielder get an assist for every time he handles the ball or does each man taking part in the play get an assist. If the runner reaches a base in safety because one of the players in the run-down makes an error, do the other men get assists just as if the runner were retired?

ANSWER—When a player is run down each fielder who handles the ball in play gets an assist, but not for each time he throws the ball. Some fielders would have three or four assists on one play if the latter rule prevailed. Fielders all get assists if one of their number makes an error.

It is estimated that 2100 golf clubs with full membership are running in the United States.

REPORT KLAMATH FISHING IS GOOD

Limit Catches Being Made Daily, Sportsmen Say, In North Streams

The annual big run of salmon and steelhead in the Klamath, Eel and Mad rivers of Humboldt county, which is looked forward to with a great deal of anticipation by all of the disciples of Isaak Walton, has started in the Klamath, according to reports brought back by fishermen who state they are catching the limit. Early indications are from Requa and sections around the mouth of the Klamath that this will be the biggest run in years.

Several new camping sites have been opened along the lower portion of the river providing for better accommodations for the fishermen from afar. Through the opening of a new road leading to what is known as the McBeth ranch it is now possible for fishermen to drive about eight miles above the mouth of the stream to the first riffles. Formerly it was necessary to engage motorboats to reach this point, but this expensive feature is now entirely eliminated.

It is expected that within a few days the run will have reached Weitchpec and Bluff creek, experts claiming that Bluff creek fishing this year will be better than ever before, especially if the fishing is done with flies. Other tributary streams of the Klamath are expected to have their proportionate amount of good fishing.

Spinners Used

Most of the luck by early fishermen has been encountered with Nos. 4, 5 and 6 all brass spinners, users claiming the limit in practically every case.

Real good fishing on the Eel and Mad rivers will probably not be encountered for a short time. Low water has cut down the run somewhat, but by the time of the first rain, or if this rain does not occur within a few weeks, it is expected the fish will run heavy to their spawning grounds. The Soule pool, Snag pool, Palmer creek pool, Weymouth pool, Rio Dell pool have all furnished good steelhead fishing during the past week.

The Humboldt County Board of Trade, Eureka, Cal., is co-operating with fishermen in advising them of accommodations that are available and also the best method by which to reach the Klamath at the present time. A letter to this organization will bring an early reply on what may be expected in this section. It is possible to reach this section via the Northwestern Pacific railroad, or by your own automobile or stages over the Redwood highway.

PLAYING BY GIRL IS BIG SURPRISE

Miss Edith Cummings Hands Overwhelming Defeat To Miss Burns

By WALTER CAMP
Special correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1924

NEW YORK, Aug. 16.—The very decisive defeat administered by Miss Edith Cummings to Miss Miriam Burns, no less than 12 up and 10 to play, is another speaking evidence of the psychology of golf. In the semi-finals, Miss Burns had played such remarkable golf that a matching of the scores would have shown that she would have defeated Miss Cummings decisively on that day.

But it is one thing to be playing against an ordinary opponent and quite another thing to be exchanging shots with the champion. Experience, poise, and confidence, always count in the finals and in this case Miss Burns was quite off her game, while Miss Cummings played startling golf.

As a matter of fact, in the finals, conceding two putts that were not holed, Miss Cummings would have had the low score for the tournament as she made an 81 in the opening round.

Sister of Dexter

The two Cummingses are making a lot of trouble in the golfing world. For Miss Edith is a sister of Dexter Cummings, the intercollegiate champion who will have to be reckoned with this year.

The welcome which Miss Helen Wills received when she took the court against Miss Beaupre in the opening matches at Forest Hills in the women's national singles was indeed well deserved. She endeared herself to her partisans here almost more by her defeat at Wimbledon and her comeback at the Olympics than if she had sailed through both swimmingly. For, after all, it is the poise of the girl that makes her so convincing.

Our poloists seem to be having some of the troubles that afflict a football team; for on Tuesday, enough of them were more or less incapacitated, including Milburn, with his injured arm, to make it advisable to skip a day in practice.

The Kirtland warbler is the rarest bird in North America, only two nests having been reported seen by naturalists.

By NORMAN E. BROWN

R. Norris Williams, II, captain again of America's Davis cup team, stands out as the man who has made the annual rankings a simpler task for the ranking committee.

Williams, by his brilliant play year after year, has left the body with but nine of the "first ten" to pick. For, since 1912—twelve long and grueling campaigns ago—Williams has failed to land in the first 10 on only two occasions. His playing fell off a bit in 1918 and the year before that, because of the war, no rankings were announced.

This brilliant record places him alone as a contender for the honor of appearing in the select group. No other player has ever broken into the list with such regularity or for so long a period.

Williams also holds another record. He has been a leading figure in the net game for a longer period than any other star now sparkling in the tennis firmament.

"Little Bill" Johnston comes closest to Williams' first record. Johnston broke into the Big Ten in 1913, a year after Williams did. But Little Bill has not fared so well in the placing as Williams.

Williams has led the field but once, however. That was in 1916. Johnston wore the first position 1915 and 1919. Since that later date Bill Tilden has held it against Johnston, Williams and the small army at their heels.

Williams' greatest asset in his championship play is his accuracy. The naughty-naughty two-gun man who could drive a tack at 50 paces had nothing on Williams, who can pick off a flake of lime on the back line with a return while standing on his head. His ability to make perfect placements from seemingly impossible positions is uncanny.

It was this play that helped him win the national title in 1914 and 1916 and force McLoughlin to the limit in 1913.

Williams has been captain of the Davis cup team since 1921. The team held the cup that year, lost it the next and regained it last year.

FIGHT RESULTS

At Boston—Paul Berlenbach, New York, knocked out Joe Kelly, Boston, in fourth round of scheduled ten-round bout.

At Elizabethtown, N. J.—Erminio Spalla, heavyweight champion of Europe, knocked out Fred Mays, Jersey City, in second round of scheduled twelve-round bout.

At Wilkesbarre—Allentown Joe Gans outpointed Jack McVey, New York, ten rounds.

At Cincinnati—Young Hopwood of Cincinnati shaded Bill Brown of Memphis, ten rounds.

At San Francisco—Hank Roberts and Joe Miller drew in four rounds; Eddie McGovern lost a decision to Cliff Ramies; referee stopped bout between Billy Alger and Tommy Cello with the latter in bad shape in the second.

At Denver—Willie Hoppe of Denver was awarded the decision over Kid Socklin of Lincoln, Neb., after three fast rounds here last night.

At Newark—Phil Rosenberg outpointed Joe Souza, twelve rounds.

JOHNSTON VICTOR OVER SNODGRASS

'Little Bill' Plays All Round Foe Before Big Crowd At Newport Meet

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 16.—A record-breaking gallery saw William M. Johnston, San Francisco, send Harvey Snodgrass, Los Angeles, down to defeat in three straight sets at the Casino today. The scores were 6-2, 6-2, 6-2.

"Little Bill" played all around Snodgrass. There were scores of nets and outs by each player, but Johnston's placements numbered six times as many as those of Snodgrass, who also made double faults. Snodgrass' shoulder was lame today.

The match was a walkaway for Johnston, who was too fast and clever at maneuvering, as well as too aggressive for Snodgrass.

Keene, N. H., claims to have the widest concrete-paved street in the world, measuring 140 feet from curb to curb.

BOB SAGE VICTOR OVER BLACKSMITH

Mickey Rockson Outpointed By Detroit Lawyer on Fast Legion Card

In a fitting climax to a bill filled with thrills from the first note of Dan Tobey's initial announcement, to the final gong, Bob Sage, Detroit lawyer and scrapper de luxe, won a deserved decision over Mickey Rockson, the village blacksmith, who has been in the habit of pounding other boys to sleep at the Hollywood American Legion stadium last night.

Every available inch of space in the stadium was filled, and hundreds of people were turned away. Every fight went the limit, with the exception of one, and the boxers gave the fans their money's worth in fast, furious bouts.

Sage left-jabbed Rockson all around the ring in the opening stanza of their setto. The Detroit lawyer continued to left-jab and right-hook his way along for the second and third round, Sage doing all the leading for the first two rounds. When Rockson tried to mix in the third he did not fare so well and was repeatedly rocked with stinging lefts and rights to the head, intermingled with a lot of jabs to the body. The action did not slow up in the fourth and Sage got a clean-cut victory.

Slugging Match

An old-time slugging match was staged by Tommy Carter and Frankie Pitcher in the semi-windup, with Carter getting the decision. There was little waltzing around the ring for these two boys, who elected to stand toe-to-toe and depend upon the hard punches and artful blocking to get by. Carter played to the face almost all the time and in the second round Pitcher did a nose dive through the ropes, but came back. Tommy carried every round.

Eddie Crosier picked on a tough one when he tried to outslug and outbox Walter Rooney. Crosier put up a game fight all the way, and despite stinging blows, he waded right in as though he liked it. Rooney used a straight left most of the time, which he crossed with a wicked right.

Dick Walsh, announced as coming from the United Studios, did a pretty nose dive a very short time after the first round of his short fight with Sailor Foster. Walsh started out strong, and it looked like the sailor was going to have tough navigating, but Foster rushed Dick to the ropes, hit him with everything but the bucket, and Dick flopped.

Step Fast Pace

Frankie Novey tried hard to put Louis Martin to sleep several times in the mixup, but Martin was standing on his feet when the bout ended, although Frankie walked away with the decision. Martin was game and fought a corking battle.

One of the fastest bouts on the card was that staged by Joe Rickey and Eddie Gemima, a couple of Filipinos. There was lots and lots of action, enough for a couple of fights, and the two boys deserved a better place on the bill besides second preliminary. Gloves were flying all the time. The two were evenly matched, and the decision to Rickey did not meet with the approval of those present, who figured a draw would have been better.

Jack Calbert and Harry Foley surprised the cash customers with their speed in the opening fracas. Fight fans did not spend the time looking over the program, reading the papers or looking for movie stars, as is generally the case, but focused their attention on the ring, something unusual on any fight card. The boys slugged back and forth, with Calbert getting the decision.

Honor Visitors

Preceding the main event, the show was stopped long enough to permit the Hollywood Post No. 43 and the fans present to pay honor to Fidel La Barba, Joe Salas and Ad Allegrini, who gave a good account of themselves in the Olympics. La Barba, winner of the Olympic flyweight title at Paris, and Joe Salas, runner up to Jackie Fields, were presented with wrist watches by the post, while Allegrini was fittingly remembered. Ad was given a big ovation when it was announced that he sacrificed his chance to win honors at Paris by undergoing a blood transfusion operation to save the life of another American boxer.

La Barba acted as spokesman for the trio of honored guests, and expressed the thanks of himself, Salas and Allegrini. Jackie Fields, who is now visiting with his parents in Chicago, will be honored by the post upon his return.

Leonard-Walker Bout Set for September 22

NEW YORK, Aug. 16.—Papers have been signed that make certain a Benny Leonard-Mickey Walker bout in Yankee stadium on September 22 it was announced yesterday afternoon by the state athletic commission. The fighters agreed that the victor was to meet Dave Shade before January 1, 1925.

A monument at Washington, D. C., to commemorate the virtues of the old southern "Mammy" has been proposed.

RING RECORD OF M'COY REVIEWED

Was Handsome Fighter But Had Cruel Instincts; Career Is Ended

By FAIR PLAY
Special Correspondence of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1924.

NEW YORK, Aug. 16.—Kid McCoy, now in trouble in Los Angeles, charged with murderous gun-play, has had a hectic career. As a young western fighter he was about the handsomest man that ever hit New York in the nineties and with all your talk of Carpentier, Tunney and other picture fighters, none of them classed with McCoy in appealing good looks.

But everything ended with his looks. He had cruel instincts and no fighter liked to punish a man more than he did. His ring career might have been a greater one than it was had it not been for his tendency always to pull something of his own accord or listen to those who had something they wanted him to pull. It was his fight with Joe Choynski at the old Broadway Athletic club that largely brought about the abolition of boxing in this state and his Corbett bout was a scandal. After retiring he married many times and was not unknown to the police.

It will be a long while before English promoters ever get another high priced American boxer to England for a bout. They mean well, those English impresarios, but when it comes right down to the pinch the money isn't there. Major Cochran, the Tex Rickard of England, so-called, thought to take advantage of the immense throngs at the Wembley exposition by staging this fight, but the fact of the matter is that the London public has got so tired of seeing their white hopes in horizontal postures that they have lost their taste for the ring.

Watts For Cash

They say that more than half of those who did pay their way into the stadium were French and Americans, mainly Americans. Getting right down to cases, Britain lost four million of her young men in the war and the present fighting generation has been reared out of great travail, probably under-nourished, many of them. This, in a measure, would account for lack of good heavyweights—or, in fact, men of any weight in the British Isles.

Again, the money is not big over there and young men do not seem to be attracted to the sport, if one can call it a sport, as is the case in this country.

Gibbons probably will have to wait a long time for the $30,000 still due him; in fact, if he ever gets it he can call himself a lucky man. Tommy has been pretty unfortunate in money arrangements of late and while Eddie Kane seems to be a bright young fellow it looks as though more than one shrewd guy had hung the tag on him. Wake up, Eddie. Gibbons will probably come to this side of the water hungry for fight, and undoubtedly something attractive will be arranged.

Williams Will Force Issue With Gamblers

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 16.—Casting aside his watchful waiting policy of the past month, Harry A. Williams, president of the Coast league, declared he was going to force an issue with baseball gamblers on the Pacific coast. Williams' first step will be to run down the rumors of $50,000 bets on single ball games, he said.

Celebration to Mark End of Yacht Races

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Aug. 16.—With races in the Pacific coast championship regatta now history, more than half of the fleet, which invaded this port for the events, weighed anchor early today and, led by the giant Speedway, carrying the "Rocking Chair fleet" of the Newport Yacht club, set sail for Ensenada, Mexico, for a two-day celebration.

W. JOHNSTON MUST IMPROVE TO WIN

Tilden Will Give Him Hard Battle If Pair Meet, Expert Predicts

By LAWRENCE PERRY
Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1924

NEW YORK, Aug. 16.—Unless William Johnston improves greatly in his tennis, he is going to have small chance of defeating William Tilden, even assuming he reaches the challenge round in the National Singles late this month.

The writer had a glimpse of Johnston at Newport the other day and the thing about his game that impressed the close observer is that he is continually playing under forced draught, playing after a long rest and the lack of practice made it necessary for him to summon all his energy to get by.

By this time, one would expect to see something of the old Johnston. And it does not appear. There is improvement in his game to be sure, but it does not strike one as sufficiently impressive to argue that the all-conquering Tilden has any cause for worry even granting that Johnston works up to and through the semi-final round at Forest Hills. Tilden is still upon the peak, the monarch of all he surveys, while Johnston appears to have gone over the top, his feet upon the trail that goes downward.

Harvey Emery, captain of the Princeton track and wrestling teams and tackle on the eleven, who has been added to the athletic department of the University of Michigan, will assist, of course, in the coaching of the football team this fall, but his work at Ann Arbor will be principally in the four years' course in physical education, athletics and school health which Michigan conducts. In other words, Emery will be one of the professors in the school for coaches at Michigan, where football, basketball, baseball and track are taken up in season and through courses offered to students.

TAGGING THE BASES

The Pirates pulled the Giants down another peg in the pennant race, trouncing the New Yorkers 6 to 4 for their third straight victory. Cuyler hit a homer with two on bases.

Cincinnati downed the Dodgers under a barrage of eighteen hits, winning 10 to 5.

The Cardinals won in the eighth, 8 to 3, from the Braves.

Home runs by Friberg and Barrett with men on base gave the Cubs too great a lead for the Phillies to overcome. Score 8 to 6.

The Tigers gained half a game by defeating the Ahtletics 4 to 3, while the Yankees were idle, and are now only half a game from the lead.

Extra base hits gave the Red Sox their fourth straight win from the White Sox, 7 to 6.

Passenger Airplanes Yield 300 Per Cent

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 16.—A return of about $500 a month is being paid on investments of $2,000 in a new industry that is springing up on Lambert-St. Louis Flying Field, near here.

Every day, but particularly on Sundays, scores of passenger airplanes—all privately owned—hop off there to soar over St. Louis county, at $3 a person for a fifteen-minute flight.

One of the larger planes on the field, owned by a retired farmer, earned $110 for its owner on a recent Sunday, according to O. E. Scott, manager of the Lambert-St. Louis Flying Field.

The potato crop in the United States for the past ten years has averaged over 375,000,000 bushels annually.

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS

A LOVE LETTER

"Dear Doctor Lulu: You darling! I love you. Look at the enclosed pictures 'Before, at 225'; and 'After, at 165,' and you can see why. I have never permitted myself to gain over five pounds since my marvelous reduction of 60 pounds in three and one-half months. I do gain very easily. I'm an easy keeper like a horse I had once. I don't count my calories as carefully as I did, but I certainly watch my step. I weigh myself at least every other day and seldom let myself get that uncomfortable fullness after a meal. I have wrinkles—but what decent woman of 45 hasn't? But I have no hips and no legs; and from my pictures in the knickers you can see I am not ashamed of them.

"Oh, if I had only met you or the likes of you when I was 16! But the likes of you, my dear Doctor, is not made—there is just one 'you.' You have made me very happy and with all my heart I thank you.—E. W."

You have made me very happy, too, Mrs. W., by letting me know of your wonderful reduction and its benefits. You were a little speedy in reducing 60 pounds in three and one-half months. That is faster than I advise for steady reduction, but apparently it has not harmed you. In your picture you certainly look healthy and vigorous. You have the right idea about watching your weight now and not allowing any large gain. Not the least of the virtues of our reducing campaign is its lesson in teaching that excess weight can be prevented as well as reduced. The girls of 16 nowadays don't look forward to fat imprisonment under the impression that it is a normal accompaniment of age and inevitable. I always see back of the reduction and prevention of overweight the long array of diseases that are going to be prevented. Thank you for writing, Mrs. W.

MILK

Mrs. G.—Yes, undoubtedly you will be benefited by the addition of milk to your diet. You want to remember that every ounce of milk totals 20 calories (and of the 20, approximately 5 are protein, 5 carbohydrates and 10 fat). So if you take a quart of milk (32 ounces) you are getting 160 calories of protein. The adult needs 250 to 350 calories of protein, so unless you cut down your meats and fish you will be getting too much. You must remember, of course, that the milk must be pure milk. If you are not taking liberal amounts of raw vegetables and fruits add them to your diet also. And use the whole-grain cereals and breads.

DANDRUFF

Miss C.—We had some articles on dandruff, baldness and gray hair recently and they are now in pamphlet form. (Those of you who missed them may have same by sending s. a. s. e. with request.)

Kerosene seems to be a popular remedy for dandruff. It acts as a germicide; that is, it kills the germs on the scalp. However, it is the daily care of the scalp, brushing and massaging and pulling the hair, that gives permanent results. The ointment known as sulphur cream is highly recommended by skin specialists for dandruff. You can apply this with the tips of the fingers and thoroughly massage into the scalp. Apply rather liberally before you shampoo the hair on over night. A tiny bit can be applied after the shampoo.

Excessive oil and excessive dryness are both remedied by the same thing—the daily care of the scalp. The frequency with which the hair has to be washed depends upon how soon it becomes oily. Every five days is not too often if it seems to need it so often as that. If these frequent shampoos are inconvenient a little talcum powder or corn meal sprinkled on the hair and then thoroughly brushed out will relieve the oiliness. This is called the dry shampoo. Tar soap is highly recommended as a shampoo soap. It is best to rinse the hair thoroughly and put a little lemon juice or vinegar in the last rinsing, just enough to make it slightly acid.

My Dear Followers:—When sending for material which we offer you please remember to enclose a stamped envelope bearing your full name and address. The pamphlet on reducing and gaining is the only one for which you must enclose four cents in stamps extra. Address your letters to me in care of this paper. Make them as brief as possible, not over 200 words, and type or write them legibly with ink. Please sign your name as evidence of good faith—we will not use it in any way. Remember it is impossible for me to diagnose for you or to answer you personally. I appreciate very much the beautiful letters you send me and regret it is impossible to give you individual advice. The questions you ask will be answered in the column as soon as possible; if they are of general interest. Don't forget the s. a. s. e. if you expect me to send you the information I have offered.

Nut-Raisin Sandwiches—Put one-half cup of chopped seedless raisins over the fire with water barley to cover and stew till tender. Thicken this while hot with one tablespoon of cornstarch, then remove from range and cool. Add to it one-half cup of any kind of chopped nut meats, sweeten with one tablespoon of sugar, then spread this paste on any kind of bread, putting two slices together. These make very nourishing sandwiches for either the home table or picnic use.

Hamburg-Macaroni Dish—(This may be made either with uncooked hamburg steak or with left-overs from hamburg meat balls). Mix together one quart of cooked macaroni, one cupful of meat, one cup of either uncooked diced tomatoes or the more solid parts of canned tomatoes, one teaspoonful of salt, a little pepper, and one cooked green sweet pepper minced (with seeds removed). Turn all into a buttered baking dish and let bake in a moderate over for one and one-half hours, then sprinkle top with bread crumbs, dot with butter, and slip back into a slightly hotter oven till crumbs are brown. Serve hot.

Cauliflower a la Marie—Separate one large boiled cauliflower into small flowerets and add to them the beaten yolks of two eggs which have been mixed with one-fourth cup of olive oil, one-half cup of vinegar, one teaspoon of chopped parsley, one teaspoon of sugar, one-half teaspoon of dry mustard and a pinch of pepper. Heat all together (either in a chafing dish or in a saucepan on the range) and when very hot serve in small individual dishes or ramekins.

Corn Salad—Mix together two cups of cold, cooked corn, cut from the cob, three-fourths of a cup of chopped English walnut meats and one and one-half cups of dried raw celery. Stir into this the following:

Dressing for Corn Salad—Beat two egg-yolks and stir into them one teaspoon each of salt, dry mustard and sugar, and a pinch of pepper. Put into your double boiler two heaping tablespoons of butter and when it has melted add to it one-half cup of hot vinegar. Now stir into it the eggs mixed with the seasonings. Add one cup of hot milk, stirring to keep it from lumping. Let cook till thick, cool slightly, then fold in two stiffly whipped egg whites and cool before mixing with the corn salad.

All inquiries addressed to Miss Kirkman, in care of the "Housekeeping" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question. Be sure to use YOUR full name, street number, and the name of your city and state.—The Editor.

W. C. T. U. Meeting

The W. C. T. U. meeting held yesterday at the home of Mrs. Edith Dockeray at 723 South Louise street, proved to be a most interesting and enjoyable meeting. The business session convened at 11 o'clock and was followed by a cafeteria dinner at noon.

The afternoon's program on "Christian Citizenship and Americanization" was presided over by Mrs. George H. Rowe, program chairman. Mrs. Edith Dockeray gave a very interesting talk pertaining to this subject and a prize oration on citizenship was read by Mrs. Lilly C. Richardson. Miss Avis Thompson of Los Angeles, a former Glendale resident, gave a group of pianologues which were greatly enjoyed.

A special feature of the program was the talk given by Mrs. Eva C. Wheeler, president of the California W. C. T. U. She told many interesting things pertaining to the work the W. C. T. U. is accomplishing along the lines of Christian citizenship and Americanization.

Leave For Home

Mrs. J. W. Heaccok and Miss Paralle Heacock of Talladeger, Ala., and Miss Alda Heacock of Birmingham, Ala., who have been visiting Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Heacock, Jr., of 216 Western avenue for the past five weeks, left Thursday for an extended trip in the north and northwestern states. They will visit Santa Barbara, San Francisco, Salt Lake City, Yosemite and Yellowstone national parks, Pike's peak and other points of interest en route home. They expect to arrive in Birmingham about September 1.

During their visit here the Heacocks have entertained extensively for them. Last Sunday they gave a barbecue, southern style, at Brent's Craigs. There were about thirty-five guests present. They have also enjoyed many sightseeing trips, visiting the missions, canyons and other points in the southland.

New York Approving 1500 Bonuses Daily

ALBANY, Aug. 16.—The New York State Bonus Commission is functioning at top speed these days. Claims of 1,500 world war veterans are being approved daily. Already several thousand claims have been paid.

Veterans are entitled to $10 for each month or fraction of month they served, the total not to exceed $150. The Legislature has approved a $45,000,000 bond issue to finance the bonus.

Blame Wedding Slump On Housing Shortage

LONDON, Aug. 16.—A big slump in marriage has set in in London and other large English cities. Figures recently issued indicate that the marriage rate in London for the first six months of 1924 was the lowest for twenty-five years.

Since 1920 the marriage rate has dropped 22 per cent, while the birth rate has correspondingly decreased.

Entertains Class

Mrs. Laura Belle Rider of 400 East Harvard street entertained the Loyal Workers' Bible class of the Central Christian church yesterday afternoon and sixty women were in attendance for the social and business hours.

One of the features of the meetings of the class each month, is the reading of the class paper, "The Loyal Speal," edited by Mrs. E. H. Learned. For three years Mrs. Learned has been editing the paper and the church women, 101 of whom belong to the class, eagerly look forward to hearing Mrs. Learned read the paper at the social and business meeting each month. The paper gives the officers, enrollment, motto, colors, editorial comment, news of each class member, jokes and other items of interest.

Mrs. Eva M. Hutton, class teacher, and Mrs. C. S. Archer, class president, were among those present yesterday.

During the afternoon each one present was asked to tell a humorous incident in her life. A duet, "Whispering Hope," by Mrs. Mercer and Mrs. Jodon, was enjoyed.

SHIP COAL FROM FORD'S OWN MINE

Motor King Enters Retail End of Fuel Business; Uses Lake Fleet

By J. C. ROYLE

Special correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1924

NEW YORK, Aug. 16.—Henry Ford is going into the retail coal business in the Northwest. This fact has become known with the arrival at Duluth of the Benson Ford, one of the Ford Motor company's fleet, with a cargo of coal from the Ford Kentucky mines. W. B. Mayo, chief engineer for the automobile manufacturer, who arrived on the vessel, immediately took over the property of the Superior Coal and Dock company, which has been rented to the Ford company for one year.

Mayo announced that the coal brought to the head of the lakes by the Ford fleet would first be used to fill the needs of the various automobile plants in the Northwest and that the remainder would be sold to the public. At first, Mayo added, the coal would be disposed of in carload lots and sales offices will be opened both in Duluth and in St. Paul or Minneapolis.

Distribution Plans

Mayo will return to the head of the lakes from a final trip to Detroit for instruction on the Henry Ford 2nd next week when the final plans for distribution and handling of the fuel will be made public. The Ford boats which carry coal to the head of the lakes will load iron ore at Duluth for the Ford plants at River Rouge, Mich. Two additional boats now under construction will be placed in operation within a short time. Extensive improvements also will be made to the Duluth docks to facilitate handling of this traffic.

Ford recently offered to buy the docks, now in the hands of receivers, outright for $650,000, but his offer was rejected. Arrangements are completed, however, by which he secures the use of the property for a rental of $70,000 a year.

Buys Coal Acreage

Within the last few years, Ford has acquired a coal acreage in Kentucky of tremendous production possibilities. For some time, he has sold coal and coke to his employes in Detroit at less than the dealers pay, being in an advantageous position through transportation of coal from his own mines over his own railroad.

The new plan for the Northwest, therefore, would seem to mark an even greater expansion of activities. The operation of vessels to carry automobile parts along to the head of the lakes for trans-shipment to various Western assembling plants by rail, scarcely would be profitable, but with his vessels carrying coal up and ore down, the handling of Ford parts at least part way by water, seems likely to be seriously considered.

The movement of coal over the Great Lakes has already suffered recessions this season. Estimates based on shipments to upper lake ports from Cleveland and other Lake Erie harbors so far this year, indicate that the coal transported up to the close of navigation will fall seven million tons below the total of 29,000,000 tons carried in 1923.

Shipping Less Ore

The iron ore movement on the lakes also has taken a decided drop this season, and now is scarcely expected to reach 45,000,000 tons, as compared with a total of 59,000,000 tons last year. This is due in some part to recession of activity at the iron and steel plants but it also has been affected by the coal situation. Vessels have been unable to operate at a profit unless they could secure full coal cargoes up the lakes and carry ore down.

Many lake vessels have been withdrawn from service and there are now nearly 100 vessels in the idle fleet. Even if there were a striking improvement in the movement of lake traffic, the season now is so short that the idle time could scarcely be made up before ice closes the harbors.

The improved financial situation of the agriculturists in the Northwest has placed emphasis on the plans regarding shipments of automobiles and parts to that section. Dealers in that territory fully expect to hang up sales records during the latter part of the year.

Chats On Beauty

By EDNA KENT FORBES

EGG SHAMPOOS

There are dozens of varieties of egg shampoos, but the favorite one by a hair specialist is as follows:

Melt four and a half ounces of castile soap in a pint of hot water, shaving the soap first to make it melt easier. When this has cooled add:

One egg, large as possible, well beaten.

Four ounces of bay rum.

As much powdered borax as goes on top of a dime.

A tablespoonful of cologne.

Unless you've a great deal of hair, this will be enough for two shampoos. Wet your hair first, pour on some of this liquid, rub to a lather, rinse, lather and rinse again, and then again, and rinse until all the soap is out of the hair.

If you don't want to bother with this special shampoo try the old fashioned way. Beat up an egg in a small bowl, let down your hair, rub the egg on the scalp and over the hair and let it dry on. I prefer this, because the egg as it dries, takes up and holds all the oil, dirt, scurf, dandruff and everything else unhealthy on the scalp, which is washed off with it. For the soap, castile melted into form of a syrup is the best. The usual amount is three to four ounces of soap to a pint of water.

If you're a blonde, add the juice of a lemon and a quarter teaspoonful of powdered borax or bicarbonate of soda. If the hair is very greasy add half a teaspoon instead of a quarter. The same for gray hair. If you are brunette use tar water instead of plain water. Always use soft water and never rub a solid piece of soap directly on hair or scalp. If you do it cakes and is very hard to rinse off. A good way to apply the egg or the egg lotion, is with a nail brush.

Mrs. A. H. M.—Loss of hair following childbirth should not be serious as new hair will grow in to replace the old.

Do everything you can to improve the health of your scalp giving it a daily massage, plenty of air and enough sunshine to stimulate it without drying out the hair. The loose hair must come out now to let new hair grow from the old follicles, so do not mind how much of it falls out; but do everything that you can to stimulate a healthy action of the scalp to produce an entire new growth. Cutting it off will help somewhat as it will give the scalp less work to do in keeping the hair in order.

All inquiries addressed to Miss Forbes in care of the "Beauty Chats" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question.—The Editor.

Says Americans Are 'Fed Up' With Europe

LONDON, Aug. 16.—Americans, on the whole, have a pretty poor opinion of Europe, according to Mrs. Forbes-Robertson Hale, English traveler and lecturer.

"The man in the street in America," she told a recent conference of the League of Nations Union, "is fed up with Europe. He still likes France, because he is told to do so, but he is getting a little anxious about her. He does not love England, but she is the only country he will respect, because she pays her debts.

"Italians and Spaniards he classes as 'Dagoes'; Hungarians as 'wops,' and the Scandinavians as 'square-heads.' These terms sum up the average American's view of Europe."

BUTTERFLY

By KATHLEEN NORRIS. Copyright, 1924.

CHAPTER XXIX

"I begin to see Craig's fine Italian hand in this," Butterfly said, good-naturedly. "Craig hates me to have a good time! Katrina Clarke says that if we go somewhere and are bored to death, then Craig is perfectly satisfied. But if I enjoy myself——!"

Hilary began to feel angry.

"Dora, it's not nice to let a giddy, silly woman like Mrs. Clarke criticize Craig!" she protested.

Dora shrugged, sighed, and went on with her meal.

"I know it's not. But what does Craig want?" she demanded, equably.

"Why, I don't think he wants anything, dear. He loves you!" Hilary answered, bewildered. "But it seems to me that you are being reckless with your happiness. You and he are never alone, you are keeping up this feverish, rushing life, and you don't seem to me to be building——"

"We're all right!" Dora said, briefly, taking out a cigarette that she lighted with trembling fingers.

"Oh, of course you're all right!" Hilary exclaimed, deeply uneasy and distressed. "But it seems such an unnatural life to me, Dora. I always imagined you and Craig with a group of your own close friends about you, with music and hospitality, and some day children——"

"The trouble is, that I tried to make myself agreeable to Craig's friends, and they like me, and now he hates the whole crowd of them!" Dora burst out, with the facility of one who has long stored a grievance. "Why, these are all his friends! I didn't know anybody when I was married, he introduced me to every one of them! I can't help it if they like me——"

"No, but now think, Butterfly. Look at a woman like Louise Jeffries—why couldn't she have been your friend?" Hilary persisted. "It seems to me the Sunday we had at their house was the nicest I've had here. She's a sweet, pretty woman, she knows all the nice people, and yet she and her husband live so quietly down there on Long Island——"

"Excuse me; I'm not a cow!" Butterfly said, flippantly.

"Dora, I don't think that's nice," her older sister said sternly. "To speak of those three beautiful little babies and their mother as if——"

"If you consider them beautiful, I don't!" interrupted Dora. "That oldest one with her front teeth out, and the baby looking like a half-wit, with his big, heavy head. And another coming, and poor Louise dragging herself about like something on wheels——"

"I thought she looked perfectly beautiful——"

"The middle one, yes," continued Dora, darkly, "I rather liked him. He's cute enough. But Sid Jeffries has lost almost all his money, or at least a lot of it, and what Louise gets out of it is a marvel to me. Have you finished?" she asked, restlessly, suddenly getting to her feet. "I paid him, didn't I?" Good-bye, old ladies—I'll tell you what, Hilary, as we pass that big table you say to me, 'Oh, Irene Castle, you did not!" and watch them all turn round and watch us. Cy Dwyer and I did that once in the Vanderbilt, and I thought——"

Hilary missed the rest. She felt that a smile almost as unreal as Dora's was upon her face as she followed her little sister out. But Dora was still amiable; she asked Hilary what she would like to do now, should they drive? Should they run into town and finish up some shopping? Dora had had an exquisite miniature of herself painted for Craig's Christmas present; Hilary was anxious to see it finished and in its beautiful frame.

In the exotic German painter's studio, with the artist herself writhing about them in her curious draperies, Hilary by chance discovered that two miniatures of Dora had been done. Dora and some friends she met in the studio, Violet Vanderwort among them, were talking animately; Madame von Hinz was at the telephone, and Hilary was drifting about enjoying herself in her own quiet way.

Back of a great painted leather screen, upon a table littered with oils and brushes, Dora's beautiful likeness was carefully laid; it was on ivory, painted against a gold background like a Fra Angelico angel until one leaned close enough to see the sophisticated little face, the metallic scallops of hair, and the young body severely outlined in sweeping rich brocade of oriental prune-color, scarlet, lemon, peacock, and dark gold.

Beside it Hilary was amazed to find another portrait of Dora, prettier, she thought, than the original one. This was smaller, painted upon an ivory disc not much larger than a silver dollar. It merely gave Butterfly's beautiful head and bare curve of half-turned shoulder. The dark brown eyes looked up with an infantile sweetness, the red lips were half-parted, and the twist of the young head gave a wide sweep of the soft, straight, flyaway hair.

Hilary, looking about in her pleasure and astonishment, found the German artist and Violet Vanderwort beside her.

"Ah, but you was not to see that, now I shall be well scoldet!" exclaimed Madame von Hinz, in consternation. "I do not expect Madame today, and I am about to wrap it up, and now all is lost!"

Another Christmas secret! Hilary's heart sank. The big one was for Craig, and the little one for herself, of course. In an eager whisper she reassured the painter, and enlisted Mrs. Vanderwort's interest; they would say nothing about it. Madame was not to give Mrs. Spaulding any hint that her sister had spoiled the surprise. Hilary went back at once into the open studio, and was innocently turning the pages of a book of Whistler's pictures when Dora brought her the larger miniature for final comment.

Hilary's Christmas present from Craig and Dora, when Christmas came a week later, was a great box that contained, as she knew the moment she saw it, an exquisite great soft wrap of fragrant, silky fur. Dora danced about her ecstatically as Hilary, almost in tears, slipped it on. Craig give his wife a string of pearls—the beautiful milky globes themselves had been his mother's, but they had been blended into one, for Dora. Hilary gave both Dora and Craig the little things which she had a sort of genius for finding: bridge-pads stamped with their names, an address-book in which all the necessary addresses had been written in her charming hand; a little ship blown into a bottle for the little yacht that Craig and three other men owned and shared. Hilary had found it in the Ghetto, and Craig prized it more than anything else he received.

His wife's miniature went into a place of honor on the mantel, and to every one of the scores of friends who came in for eggnog and greetings, during the long day, he showed it proudly.

Yet it was the unhappiest Christmas of Hilary's life, and she presently suspected that Craig shared with her the brooding sense of something fundamentally wrong.

In the first place, where was the smaller miniature? Dora said nothing about it; Hilary opened the last of her gifts without finding it. Had some accident befallen it? Was there some reason for the delay. Her heart was sick with disappointment as she turned about in her beautiful coat, and exclaimed over and admired her treasures and the other's treasures. Then, secondly, something was wrong with Craig; he was animated and talkative, as she was, but the instant he felt himself unobserved Hilary saw his face fall into grave, into almost sinister, brooding. Two or three times she saw him deliberately shake himself free of the oppressive thought, whatever it was, and force himself into the spirit of the day again.

And at one o'clock, when they, with a dozen or more chance guests, were about to straggle into the dining room, Hilary had a moment of such hideous awakening that for the rest of the day, and for many days, she could barely keep before the world the for Dora's preservation, for the smooth surface that was necessary safety of them all.

Views and Previews Theatres News Notes From Studios

Compiled by Members of The Evening News Staff

Tonight will be the last opportunity to see that masterful drama, "Tess of The Storm Country," as presented by a brilliant cast in the tent theatre in Casa Verdugo, where the Murphy Comedians have been pleasing great crowds nightly this week.

Sunday night will see a new play offered by these talented players, to run for the next week. The tent theatre, located at Central and Stocker street, is really most accessible to theatre-goers, being only three minutes north of the business section of the city, Manager J. A. Menard states.

THE GLENDALE

"The Lightning Rider" closes at the Glendale theatre tonight, to be followed by "The Uninvited Guest" for three days.

THE GATEWAY

"Girl Shy" closes at the Gateway theatre tonight, to be followed by "Hold Your Breath" for three days.

THE T. D. & L.

"Babbitt" closes at the T. D. & L. theatre tonight, to be followed by "The Arab" for three days.

Uncle Wiggily

By HOWARD R. GARIS

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE LOUD VOICE

One day, when the rabbit gentleman was sitting on the porch of his driftwood seashore cottage, feeling a bit sad because summer would soon be gone, Uncle Wiggily heard voices down on the beach. Gentle, laughing voices they were, and one voice said:

"Let's go up and tell Uncle Wiggily!"

"Oh, yes—let's do it!" said someone else.

"Ah, ha!" thought the bunny gentleman to himself. "Some of the animal children are going to play a trick on me—perhaps. Well, I'm ready for them," and putting a handkerchief over his pink nose, to stop the twinkling of it, the bunny pretended to go to sleep, as the voices of the animal children came nearer.

But Johnnie and Billie Bushytail, the squirrels, and Jackie and Peetie Bow Wow, the puppy dog boys, were not thinking of playing a trick on Uncle Wiggily. Instead they had something which they thought quite wonderful to tell him.

"Oh, Uncle Wiggily! What do you know about this?" chattered Billie, when Mr. Longears had stopped pretending to be asleep. "Down in a green valley, where there is a sparkling brook, we boys can holler and then we hear a loud voice shout back at us."

"Maybe it's a giant hiding there," barked Jackie, the puppy.

"There aren't any giants—except in circus shows," said the rabbit, "and those are very jolly giants. But I'll go listen to the loud voice you have heard."

"We heard the loud voice when we were playing in the valley yesterday," said Johnnie. "I yelled Billie's name and the loud voice called it right back to me."

"It must be a giant!" said Peetie.

Uncle Wiggily only laughed as he hopped with the animal boys to the green valley. Then, as they all stood quiet, the rabbit gentleman asked:

"Who are you?" Back came the same question, only louder:

"WHO ARE YOU?"

"Ha! Ha!" laughed the bunny gentleman, "I know what it is—it's an echo. The sides of the valley reflect back your voice as a looking glass reflects light, only the sound is made louder. Come now, you try it." So Johnnie shouted "Hello!" and the echo answered "HELLO!" Billie cried: "I'm not afraid!" and the echo said: "I'M NOT AFRAID!"

So the animal boys laughed, and thought the echo very jolly until, all of a sudden, a big black Bear rushed out of the bushes, and looked hungrily at Uncle Wiggily's ears.

"Oh-ee-ee-ee-ee!" whispered Peetie. And the echo murmured the same.

"I've come to get you, Uncle Wiggily!" cried the Bear. And then over in the green hill, back came the words of the echo: "I'VE COME TO GET YOU-OO-OO!" and the loud voice rumbled and rumbled.

The Bear, hearing the echo, but not knowing what it was, thought it was a giant bear after him. And, being a coward, that Bear just tucked his foolish little tail between his legs and said:

"Oh, good Giant Bear, don't come after me! I didn't know you were here or I wouldn't have tried to get Uncle Wiggily! I'll leave him alone, I'll go away, Giant Bear. And back came the echo: "GO AWAY, GIANT BEAR!"

"Oh," whispered Jackie, as the black Bear shuffled off, "it was just as if some other bear answered him, wasn't it, Uncle Wiggily?"

"Yes," laughed the bunny gentleman, "it was. And now you know about an echo." Then the animal boys had fun calling and listening to the loud voice. And if the strawberry jam doesn't try to sit in the rocking chair at the same time as the feather pillow, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and the Sand Flipper.

NEW OWNER WILL CONDUCT MARKET

Expert Meat Man Takes Over Department; Policy to Be Highest Grade

The Sunshine Market's meat department, 124 West Wilson avenue, announces a change in ownership. W. H. Melhuish of Hollywood, the new proprietor, formerly was connected with a meat market on Beverly boulevard, Hollywood. The policy of the market will remain the same and nothing but the best in high grade meats will be handled.

F. J. Cummings will continue to operate the grocery department and handle all the well-known brands of fancy and staple groceries such as the Del Monte and Iris lines of canned goods, etc. J. M. Burgy owns the fruits and vegetables department where the freshest fruits and vegetables in season are always to be had. Mr. Burgy states that he has just received his first shipment of large Idaho potatoes from Nampa, Idaho.

Fly Problem Solved As Horse Disappears

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 16.—Due to universal use of automobiles and the consequent disappearance of horses, especially within cities, the fly control problem has been greatly simplified, and conditions are now favorable to a war of extermination against flies, the state board of health says in a bulletin directed to local health authorities today.

"The trotter, the delivery and the truck horse are things of the past," the bulletin set forth, "and with the horse have gone the fly-breeding places most numerous and difficult to control."

"The presence of large numbers of flies in the business sections of a municipality today constitutes a reflection on local health administration," the board concludes.

Last year 4,000,000 persons made calls upon the 3562 inhabitants of the New York zoological gardens.

NEW YORK CLOSING

By W. S. COUSINS
For International News Service.

WALL STREET, NEW YORK, Aug. 16.—Industrial stocks resumed their upward movement in spectacular fashion today and brisk rallies at the opening reflected the enthusiatsic reception of the reports from London that the Germans had agreed to the terms of evacuation of the Ruhr and that final agreement on the reparations question was in sight. In addition, week-end business reports were uniformly favorable.

A sharp advance in American Can to 131 was attributed partly to the hasty covering of shorts, and the same is true of Mack Truck, U. S. Steel, Baldwin and a number of other high priced stocks in which the upward movement has been pronounced in recent weeks. Gains of 2 or 3 points were also recorded in the medium priced industrial, steel and copper stocks like Allis-Chalmers, Westinghouse, Gulf States Steel, Colorado Fuel & Iron and other representative shares.

The coppers made a strong response to the favorable foreign developments on the expectation that the copper trade will derive a large benefit from the revival of continental industry. Anaconda sold up nearly a point at 3; Kennecott at 49 1-2; United States Smelting made a new high at 32.

St. Louis-San Francisco preferred, and Southern Railway continued to dominate the railroad list, the former at 61 1-2, being at the highest price in ten years, while Southern Railway, above 67 1-2, was at the highest price in the history of that road. New forward movements in Norfolk & Southern, Western Maryland preferred, Great Northern preferred, Erie, Louisville & Nashville, Northern Pacific and Wabash preferred showed that the trend of the railroad market was still upward, although the activity of the railroad shares was not as pronounced as the industrials.

Shipping stocks enjoyed a strong market today as prospects for the resumption of overseas trade appeared brighter. International Mercantile Marine crossed 40 for the first time since the decline in the market started in March, and American International sold up nearly a point. Independent Steels made a better showing than in the last few days. Gulf States advanced to 75, representing a rise of nearly 4 points from the low of the week. Mack Truck added 2 points to the best previous price of the year and sold up to 105, and Studebaker at 38 7-8, was within a fraction of its high for the year. Oils remained in the dumps, with only occasional sales and generally at slight declines in prices.

Week-end commodity markets were strong and fairly active, and bond trading was on a large scale for the short day session.

Stock sales today: 554,800 shares; bonds $5,532,000.

Stock sales for the week: 5,196,000; bonds $70,535,000.

Federal Smelting and Mining declared its regular quarterly $1.75 preferred dividend payable September 15, stock of record August 25.

Standard Oil of New Jersey declared regular quarterly dividends of 25 cents on common and $1.75 on preferred payable September 15.

Regular quarterly dividends were declared by Armour & Co., of Illinois, Armour & Co., of Delaware, and the North American Provision company of 1¾ per cent on the 7 per cent cumulative preferred stock, payable October 1, stock of record September 15. President Edison White declared earnings continued satisfactory.

ALIENIST BATTLE LOOMS FOR M'COY

Prosecution Opposes Claim Of Defense That Ex-Boxer Is Insanity Victim

before the district attorney. Keyes thinks Mrs. Thomas may prove the keystone of his case for the state.

Mrs. Thomas has given varied versions of what McCoy told her the night before Mrs. Mors' body was found. To straighten out this tangle of statements she is expected to be asked by Keyes to repeat the story.

"I believe my brother is innocent and that the mystery of Mrs. Mors' death is yet to be solved," Mrs. Thomas was quoted as saying today.

"Did you kill the man, too?" was asked of McCoy by Mrs. Thomas, after he had told her of Mrs. Mors' death, was the exfighter's statement to his sister, according to an earlier version. And, according to this earlier story, McCoy replied to his sister, "Yes, I got him, and I'm going to get some others," according to Mrs. Thomas.

Blood on Handle

Thus the sister's garbled version of just what McCoy did say to her Tuesday night is a special angle of the mystery on which district attorney's investigators are working.

Linked, police believe, with one of the statements, is the blood-stained pick or small axe, which was found under the carpet of Mrs. Mors' automobile, which Selby drove after the woman died.

Whose hands smeared the blood on its handle, and whose hands wielded it? Police want to know.

Meantime McCoy stood today a victor in the first round of his supreme battle for his life, as a result of the findings of the coroner's jury.

At the city jail today McCoy presents a far different picture than he did when brought in, his clothes disheveled, hair awry, eyes bloodshot, and unshaven. Today he is freshly shaven, has been supplied with better clothing and is again the debonair and nattily dressed movie star who wooed so successfully so many times. His spirits, too, are good.

Gun Close to Head

Regarded as bolstering McCoy's persistent statement that Mrs. Mors killed herself, Dr. A. F. Wagner testified at the inquest, as county autopsy surgeon, that the gun from which blazed the death bullet was held close to her head.

"Tissues where the bullet entered," he said, "had a twisted, heated appearance, showing the shot was fired at close range. Absence of powder marks is not necessarily important, since smokeless powder may have expelled the bullet."

The authorities were today also investigating a story told by Mrs. Iva Martin, who was in an apartment below that occupied by McCoy and Mrs. Mors the night the antique dealer died. Mrs. Martin said she heard a woman's cries and then the sound of running feet and later saw two men leave the apartment house.

Police said they did not believe Mrs. Martin's story could be linked with Mrs. Mors' death.

While police said they did not believe her story could be linked with the mystery surrounding the death of Mrs. Mors, Mrs. Martin will be summoned Monday for requestioning of her version of what took place in the apartment house where Mrs. Mors died Tuesday night.

Mrs. Martin resides in an apartment almost directly below that occupied by McCoy and Mrs. Mors under the names of "Mr. and Mrs. N. Shields."

Heard Woman's Cry

"Tuesday night I first heard a woman cry, 'Oh, my God, don't do that!'" Mrs. Martin told police today. "A man's voice made a muffled reply. There was the sound of a scuffle and I heard a woman's voice pleading. Then I heard her say, 'Oh, my God, don't do that. Oh, this will be terrible!

"A few seconds later a shot rang out. There was a brief silence and I heard the thump of a body falling on the floor. I jumped out of bed and looked at the clock. It was five minutes past midnight. I was frightened and nervous, so I put out the light and went to the window and listened.

Two Persons Flee

"About five minutes passed and then I heard footsteps coming down the stairway. I feel certain there were two persons running down the stairs. Next I heard the footsteps on the concrete walk.

"As I stood by the window I saw the figure of a man crawling on his hands and knees toward the street, past my window, only a few feet from me. When he passed by me he stood up, hesitated a moment and then staggered toward the front of the apartment house, where he stopped and leaned against the wall.

Automobile Starts

"He was facing me and I saw him distinctly. I know, now that I've seen McCoy, that it was not he. The man staggered to the street and I lost sight of him. A few minutes afterward I heard an automobile start away."

Mrs. Martin was taken to McCoy's cell and peered through the bars, but said she did not think McCoy was the man she had seen crawling below the apartment.

"The man was solid, heavier than McCoy," she said.

SAFETY WEEK IS GREAT SUCCESS

Number of Accidents Are Greatly Reduced Result Of News' Campaign

The Glendale Evening News' Safety Week will close at midnight tonight. Records taken from the police department show that the week has been a complete success.

Officials of the Automobile Club of Southern California, members of the local automobile association, merchants, ministers and citizens in general, are congratulating The Glendale Evening News on its success in materially reducing the number of accidents in Glendale.

The campaign has displayed that automobile drivers—and pedestrians—when they THINK can help to reduce accidents. It is suggested that EVERY week be Safety Week in Glendale. Careful driving WILL cut down the number of accidents. And careful driving means that the person at the wheel is THINKING about his driviing.

The Glendale Evening News thanks the public for its co-operation in Safety Week. This newspaper was glad to donate many columns of space to the reduction of accidents. The co-operation of the public is appreciated.

Study Traffic Laws And Observe Them

Safety Week Editor, The Evening News—To drive an automobile safely:

Familiarize yourself with and make effort to comply with the state, county and municipal laws governing the operation of motor vehicles on the public streets and highways.

Give special consideration to the exercise of courtesy when driving by observing the following:

At all times and especially when arriving at intersections, assist other drivers in so far as practicable, in the operation of their machines by giving them ample space in which to make turns, etc.

Protect cross traffic and pedestrians by slackening speed when necessary. Govern your speed according to condition of road and traffic.

At railroad crossings take no chances with trains.

In the drawing room we assume that those present are ladies and gentlemen—why not on the highways?

To the end that the machinery of automobile traffic operates harmoniously and that in protecting others we find ourselves protected.

point. Helen took the game, 4-2, the set, 6-3, and the match, 6-1, 6-3.

Miss Wills and Mrs. Wightman defeated Miss Browne and Mrs. Dudley in their doubles match, 9-7, 6-1. Helen played brilliantly. After a short rest period they were to play the championship match with Miss Goss and Mrs. Jessup.

When the score stood 4-2 against her in the first set, Helen turned the tide with a love game on her service, burning across three service aces and a placement.

Miss Browne and Mrs. Dudley faded after their mighty battle in the opener and never threatened in the second set.

Hospital Building To Be Constructed

be of Class A construction and of a type that will reflect credit on Glendale. The name of the corporation will be The Golden West Sanitarium and Hospital.

Since assuming charge of the present institution a year ago Mrs. Roberts has built up the business until she has won the confidence and support of a large number of influential Glendale business men who are prepared to lend every assistance in their power to make the present project an outstanding success.

The names of the other officials of the corporation will be announced within a few days, when Mrs. Roberts and her associates have had an opportunity to carry out the plans that are at present under consideration.

An advisory board of seven members is to be selected from among the leading business men of Glendale, to assist in the direction of the affairs of the proposed institution.

The present Golden West Sanitarium buildings will be moved to another location on the rear of the three-acre tract on which they now stand, and the new building will be erected among the natural beauties of the tract that make it one of the most attractive sites in Glendale.

Plans for the new hospital have already been prepared and work on the building will begin Mrs. Roberts states, at the earliest possible moment, in order that it may be ready for the reception of the patients.

FIRE LOSS $20,000

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 16.—Despite the efforts of ten companies of fire-fighters, fire here today destroyed the Potter Radiator factory at a loss of more than $20,000.

LEGION TO SEEK MORE MEMBERS

Big Drive to Be Held by Glendale Post; Sponsor Mobilization Day

Plans for a big membership drive, to be held September 5 to 12, were discussed at the meeting of Glendale Post No. 127, American Legion, held last night at the Legion hall, 610 East Broadway. The largest initiation and meeting ever held by the local post is planned for the night of September 12.

The Legion members voted to sponsor Mobilization Day, September 12, and will ask other organizations of the city to assist. A special committee was named by Commander Joseph Wilson to draft a complete article setting forth the meaning of Mobilization Day, and explaining to the public that the program is one to prevent war, not to advocate war.

E. V. Donnell, P. W. Miller and George Brask were added to the post's lists of volunteer forest fire fighters, bringing the number up to forty-three. E. W. Gilliland was named captain of the fire fighters, to succeed W. H. Richards, who will be absent from the city.

Report On Convention

W. H. Regelin George Mapes and Adjutant E. E. McWain gave detailed reports on the state convention held at Santa Cruz August 3 to 8. The report of the adjutant has been posted on the bulletin board at the post headquarters in order that members who did not attend last night's meeting may read it.

Dr. A. G. Bowers gave a report on the committee looking after sick and disabled welfare work. The resignation of E. J. Wix as head of the committee on Boy Scout work was accepted, and Dr. A. L. Munger appointed to fill the place.

The post will go to Covina the night of August 25 to attend a meeting of the Covina post, it was decided last night. The attendance prizes were won by Walter Toemjas and George Brask. Special entertainment will be provided at the meeting next week.

hopeful the new drive would succeed in definitely encircling the fire.

This, and the closing of the entire Modoc National forest, effective August 20 to all forms of sport and recreation, were the principal developments today in the war on forest fires.

Foresters recruited from Arizona and New Mexico began to arrive in California today and are being assigned to strategic points to direct the fight against fires by District Forester Paul G. Redington.

It was announced that to date there have been 1,411 fires in California, burning over 347,000 acres and doing damage estimated at more than $3,000,000. The forest service to August 10 this year has expended $339,000, as against $23,500 for a like period last year.

Weiser Forest In Idaho Afire; Conditions Serious

SALT LAKE CITY, Aug. 16.—Serious fire conditions in the Weiser forest in Idaho has necessitated a widespread call for aid in combatting the conflagration, according to word received at the Wasatch National forest office in Salt Lake.

W. G. Mann, assistant supervisor of the Wasatch National forest, will leave this morning for Council, Idaho, upon orders of the district office in Ogden, to lend assistance in fighting the flames. Mr. Mann was yesterday engaged in inspecting the new forest road construction at the head of the Provo river when his instructions came. He immediately left for Salt Lake to make preliminary arrangements for his new duties.

L. A. EXCHANGE

By Southland News Service

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 16.—The oils and bonds again were leaders in trading during the short session today on the Los Angeles Stock Exchange, 2000 Pacific Gas and Electric bonds selling at $97.50 and 25,000 changing hands at $97.87½—one of the largest deals of the summer.

General Petroleum and Edison securities also were heavy sellers in the bond list. Edison common stock was firm at $98 and the 7 per cent issue held at $104.75.

Los Angeles Investment was the sensation of the day when it gained 11 points in no time at all on numerous small deals. Opening at $3.51, it climbed to $3.62.

Julian preferred was a leader in the oil sales, wavering at $15 and on odd lots falling back a bit. Common showed a little profit-taking at $8.50 and $8.75. Union Oil was up $132 to $133, while U. S. Royalties were active at $7.05.

Richmond Consolidated in the mines took its usual exercise, opening at $7.50 and bending to $7, while scattered and informal sales completed the activities.

NOTICE OF TRUSTEE'S SALE
Sale No. 3460

WHEREAS, by a Deed of Trust, dated November 1, 1923, recorded December 15, 1923, in book 3601, page 7, of Official Records of Los Angeles County, California, to which record reference is hereby made, Hubert C. Buzzell and Ferne A. Buzzell, his wife, did grant and convey the property therein and hereinafter described to the TITLE GUARANTEE AND TRUST COMPANY, as trustee, to secure, among other things, the payment of one certain promissory note, in favor of Ida L. Martin and other sums of money advanced and interest thereon; and

WHEREAS, said Hubert C. Buzzell and Ferne A. Buzzell, his wife, have borrowed and received from said Ida L. Martin the further and additional sum of $200.00, as evidenced by their promissory note dated November 2, 1923, due one day after date, said note being secured by said trust deed; and

WHEREAS, said Ida L. Martin has for a valuable consideration sold and assigned said notes and duly endorsed the same to Valley Mortgage and Finance Company, a corporation; and

WHEREAS, there has been a default in the payment of all installments of principal and interest due and payable on the note mentioned in said trust deed, according to the terms thereof, and a default in the payment of the principal of said additional loan note, and of all interest due and payable thereon according to the terms thereof, and by reason of such defaults said Valley Mortgage and Finance Company, the owner and holder of said notes and trust deed, in accordance with the provisions thereof, on to-wit, April 24, 1924, exercised its option and declared the full amount of the indebtedness secured by said trust deed immediately due and payable, there being the total sum of $2649.96 now due and unpaid; and

WHEREAS, in accordance with the provisions of Section 2924 of the Civil Code of California, said Valley Mortgage and Finance Company, the owner and holder of said notes and trust deed, on April 29, 1924, caused to be recorded in the office of the County Recorder of said Los Angeles County a notice of such default in the payment of principal and interest, and of its election to cause the property described in said trust deed to be sold, in accordance with the provisions thereof, to satisfy said obligation, which notice of default and election to sell was duly recorded in Book 3739, page 174, Official Records of said Los Angeles County; and

WHEREAS, said Trust Deed provides that, if there is a default in the payment of any of the sums secured thereby, upon application of the holder of said note, the trustee shall give notice and sell so much of the property as shall be necessary to satisfy the indebtedness secured thereby.

WHEREAS, said Valley Mortgage and Finance Company, by reason of the default in payments as stated, has requested the TITLE GUARANTEE AND TRUST COMPANY to give notice and to sell said property, or so much thereof as shall be necessary to sell, to pay all the indebtedness secured and expenses incurred necessary to the execution of said trust.

NOW THEREFORE, notice is HEREBY GIVEN that the TITLE GUARANTEE AND TRUST COMPANY by virtue of the authority vested in it as Trustee, will sell at public auction, to the highest bidder, for cash in gold coin, on the 6th day of September, 1924, at the hour of 11 o'clock A. M. of said day, at the western front entrance of the Court House in the City of and County of Los Angeles, State of California, all the interest conveyed to it by said Trust Deed, in and to all the following described property, to-wit:

Lot Forty-one (41) of Tract Number Forty-seven Hundred Sixty-five (4765), in the City of Glendale, County of Los Angeles, State of California, as per map recorded in Book 51, page 44 of Maps, in the office of the County Recorder of said County;

Subject to prior incumbrances, if any, of record;

or so much thereof as shall be necessary to pay the total amount of the principal, interest, advances, charges, and costs, amounting to the sum of Thirty-one Hundred and 00/100 Dollars ($3100.00), due and unpaid.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, the TITLE GUARANTEE AND TRUST COMPANY has duly authorized this notice, by the signature of its Vice-President, attested by its Secretary, who has affixed the Corporate Seal, at Los Angeles, California, this 1st day of August, 1924.

TITLE GUARANTEE AND TRUST COMPANY.

GLENDALE PROPERTY

Dietrich's Best Buy

On North Maryland (joining Brand Blvd., in rear, right in the heart of Glendale's Best Business District), a large 6 rm. home on a lot 50x140.

This is a good Home—not new—BUT REMARKABLY WELL BUILT—with good basement and Furnace. The living room is very pleasant, with real fire place, and stone mantel. The Dining rm. faces Maryland and has good buffet and plenty of light. The three bed rooms are good size and have large clothes closets. The front bed room opens off living room and hall both, and could be used for library or den, if desired. The Kitchen is also large with full cupboards, cooler, flour and sugar bins and good nook. The back porch is large enough to be used as a room.

The lawns are good in the rear as well as the front. There is plenty of shrubbery, good shade and fruit trees.

A double garage completes the requisites for a good Home.

Best of all, this is a fine buy from a speculative standpoint. Some time in the not distant future, all of these lots adjoining Brand Blvd. frontage will sell at a tremendous profit, over present prices.

We offer this property, at the value of the lot alone, $10,500. Takes only $2500 to handle.

Plan New Names for Five Local Streets

Glendale people who are interested in property in the neighborhood of Fourth street, will find added interest in the notice that at 10 o'clock Thursday, August 21, there will be a hearing in the council room at the city hall, on the question of changing the names of Fourth street, Gilbert street, Ethel street, Monterey road and Sierra avenue to Glenoaks boulevard. Those interested are invited to attend. Official notice of the hearing appears elsewhere in today's issue of The Glendale Evening News.

Jesus, the Politician, Will Be Class Topic

"Jesus, the Politician," will be the subject presented to the Fellowship class of the First Methodist church by H. V. Adams, teacher. The class meets at 9:30 o'clock and all men are invited to attend.

Attorneys Wrangle At Trial of Slayers

CRIMINAL COURT, Chicago, Aug. 16.—Two hours of hectic, sometimes almost furious, wrangling today between lawyers and alienists in the Leopold-Loeb trial failed to produce any outstanding result except that Dr. H. Douglas Singer, third of the state's alienists, pronounced Nathan F. Leopold, jr., and Richard A. Loeb to be free of mental disease, without any extensive oral or physical examinations of the collegians.

Dr. Singer freely admitted that his conclusions were based on—

First—Seeing the young slayers in the state's attorney's office on June 2.

Second—Observation of them in court during the month of this trial, and Third—Consideration of the basic, undisputed facts contained in the report of the defense alienists, Dr. Hulbert and Dr. Bowman.

For the rest of the hectic cross-examination, conducted by Clarence Darrow, chief of the defense counsel, it consisted mostly of wrangling and argument over definitions and interpretations of medical terms, in which Darrow shouted at the doctor and the doctor shouted right back at Darrow.

Darrow had not completed his cross-examination of the state's third alienist when court adjourned at noon, until next Monday.
